Wilson Is Supported By City Republicans

Full support of Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson as County Republican chairman and of Lloyd R. Newcombe, of Catskill who seeks to gain the GOP nomination for the state senate in the 43rd Senatorial District was announced after a Thursday night meeting of the City Republican Committee at Tommy's Restaurant, 11 High Street.

City support of Wilson comes in the midst of party controversy over policy in dealing with selection of a candidate for the post of county surrogate judge.

The controversy came to light in a series of radio broadcasts and mainly concerns the bid of Attorney Maurice Goldberg, of Woodstock, to gain the nomination. A "show cause" court order was reported signed Tuesday.

It restrains Attorney John E. Egan and Attorney H. Clark Bell Jr. from "in any way using the words and names of Ulster County Republican Committee" and including the name Ulster County Republican Committee on the "Judiciary" in future political broadcasts.

Wilson, in a statement Thursday, said he considered all of the avowed candidates for the office of surrogate qualified and was not backing any single candidate. Wilson termed a bid to have Goldberg's name withdrawn from the race as "political blackmail."

City Chairman John Ray Mayone announced that William B. Fairley, Third Ward committeeman, presented the following resolution.

"Be it resolved that we as members of the Kingston Republican City Committee do hereby give our entire support and loyalty to our County Chairman Kenneth L. Wilson. As a committeeman for the 3rd Ward of the City of Kingston I move the adoption of this resolution."

Upon the acceptance by acclamation of the spontaneous resolution affirming the com-

Offer No Resistance

Murder - Kidnap Pair Of Suspects Gives Up

By DEREK SCHOEN

TONOPAH, Nev. (AP) — Two Oregon murder-kidnap suspects who had eluded lawmen in California and Nevada for more than 24 hours by holding the California finance director's family hostage, surrendered to police early today.

The California Highway Patrol headquarters in Sacramento, said officers at Benton Station, on the California-Nevada line — reported that the men had surrendered.

They were taken to jail in Bridgeport, Calif.

No Resistance

Officers said the fugitives were captured just south of a border check station at Benton. They apparently offered no resistance, the patrol said.

Their capture came about two hours after they had released Mrs. Marie Champion, 39, wife of California finance director Hale Champion, and their 19-month-old daughter. They had kidnapped the Champion family in their Sacramento, Calif., home early Thursday.

Champion, who also was taken hostage by the fleeing men, was released earlier at Tonopah after he was shot in the hip by a bystander who fired at the fugitives who had commandeered a sheriff's patrol car.

The release of the Champions climaxed a crime trail that began Tuesday when a Portland, Ore., bank was robbed of $14,000.

Sought For Holdup

Ex-convicts Wilbur Marion Grey, 30, originally of Brunswick, Ga., and Karl Cletes Bowles, 24, an Amarillo, Tex., native, were sought for this holdup.

Later Tuesday they allegedly gunned down an Oregon deputy sheriff who had halted their car. They kidnapped six Oregon persons — a man, two women and three boys — and escaped into California in a trailer camper, the Federal Bureau of Investigation said.

In Sacramento, they released the six Oregon hostages and later went to the Champion home and abducted the couple and their infant daughter.

They were first spotted just outside Tonopah Thursday night when Grey and Bowles commandeered the deputy sheriff's car.

The fugitives took the car when the deputies stopped to check a car fitting the description of the Champions.

Hold Baby, Woman

Grey and Bowles, after dumping Champion out of the car, eluded officers by holding the woman and baby at gunpoint.

From Tonopah they drove to Coaldale Junction on U.S. 95. Bowles and Grey forced Elton Parson, owner of the Coaldale Inn, to give them food and gasoline.

Nevada deputies, armed with rifles, stood by helplessly in the darkness of the inn as the fugitives drove away.

They drove north to Mina, then reversed their course to Montgomery Pass — on the California-Nevada border — with officers pursuing at a safe distance for fear that the suspects would harm their hostages.

Crossing the border, Grey and Bowles stopped at Benton and telephoned the Nevada Highway Patrol and announced they were releasing Mrs. Champion and Katherine Marie.

There were confusing reports at Benton on whether the fugitives were on foot or in a stolen pickup truck.

The California Highway Patrol and Nevada patrol said officers were blocking both sides of the border and surrounding Benton.

In Sacramento, Gov. Edmund G. Brown, who had stayed abreast of developments by phone, announced he would send his plane to Tonopah and take the Champions home.

Restriction On Sprinkling Starts Monday

Kingston's water board decided Thursday night to restrict lawn and garden sprinkling starting Monday as an aid in conserving the city's water reserve in Cooper Lake.

The board's statement released today:

"At a regular meeting of the Board of Water Commissioners last evening at City Hall, it was decided that effective Monday, July 12 all lawn and garden sprinkling shall be restricted to the hours of 7 p. m. to 9 p. m. This order will be in force until further notice.

Could Deplete Supply

"The commissioners wish to point out that this action is being taken despite the fact that storage at Cooper Lake Reservoir, as of this date, is about 95 per cent of capacity, a much more favorable condition than at the same time last year. However, continuation of the existing rainfall deficiency over the next four to six months could seriously deplete the supply now in storage."

Forecasts for the months ahead indicate continuation of drought conditions in the entire northeast, some areas of which are in the fourth year of abnormal rainfall.

Edmund T. Cloonan, water department superintendent, in a May report, noted a continued deficiency of rainfall this year after the severe drought year of 1964 which forced the city to begin emergency action in November when Cooper Lake was 18½ feet below spillway level. Rains came in time to replenish the badly depleted reserve and the reservoir was at capacity in early spring.

Far Below Average

Spring rains this year and those of the summer, to date, however, have been far below average. April brought 2.80 inches compared to the average of 4.15 inches for the watershed area. May gave the watershed a mere .77 of an inch compared to an average of four inches and June contributed 2.68 inches against an average of 4.28 inches.

Intake at Cooper Lake began to lessen in the late spring and by mid-June storage was 0.65 of a foot below spillway level. It is now some two feet down.

Delaware Getting Fresh Flow

Action Is Check Salt Front Move

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Fresh water, released from three sources in Pennsylvania and New York, has begun to flow into the Delaware River at the rate of 466 million gallons a day.

The release of the water was ordered Wednesday by the Delaware River Basin Commission, which also restricted the amount of Delaware Basin water allotted to New York City.

The order was prompted by the steady advance of what water officials called a "salt front," on the Delaware estuary toward Philadelphia. The salt line would reach Philadelphia by mid-October, making half of the city's water supply unpotable.

New York City was ordered to reduce its diversion of Delaware Basin water from a maximum of 490 million gallons a day to 335 million gallons. The restriction will continue in force until Aug. 10, unless further extended by the commission.

The additional flow is coming from three sources. The Pennsylvania Power and Light Company's reservoir at Lake Wallenpaupack, near Hawley, Pa., will supply 200 million gallons a day. A major recreation area, the lake is estimated to contain 40 billion gallons.

New York City will supply 66 million gallons a day from its Neversink River Reservoir and (Continued on Page 8, Col. 2)

Electric Heat Voted Again for College, To Fix Stone Offices

Meeting for the first time in the new County Office Building, the Board of Supervisors Thursday night transacted considerable business, including the acceptance of bids for renovation of the stone office building at John and Crown streets.

The board again voted for electric heat at the Ulster Community College; further discussed the Surplus Food problem; voted to award a contract for test borings at the County Office Building site in preparation for construction of an "alternate seat of government" shelter if such borings are necessary, and transacted other routine business.

Prior to taking up routine business the privilege of the floor was extended to several residents of the city who sought to speak on the problem of Surplus Food distribution.

Suggest Downtown

Alison Raphael, Mrs. Rosemary Brown and Mrs. Nora Joseph all suggested that when the program is instituted the distribution be made in the lower part of the city where the program is most needed. They said the matter of transportation should be made at a point closest to the homes of those to be most benefited.

Supervisor Douglas Dye, (R), Town of Kingston, reporting for the Public Welfare Committee, said that bids had been sought for distribution of surplus food and that the Forst Packing Company of Kingston had submitted a bid of $1,000 per month. This bid the committee felt was fair but recommended that James Donnelly, chief of the Bureau of Surplus Foods, be contacted to establish other costs for the program so that the committee may ask in August for an appropriation to institute the program.

He also reported that the Kingston Children's Home has requested a substantial increase for foster children care. The committee reported that a request from the Kingston City schools for $10,546.66 tuition from 1961 to 1965 for welfare students from foster homes was apparently not justified and additional information will be sought.

$30,000 in Budget

Bids were opened on July 6 for renovation of the John Street office building, corner of John and Crown Streets. Supervisor Charles Relyea (R), Hurley, chairman of the Building Committee, recommended that the low bid be accepted, explaining that there was $30,000 in the current budget for the work.

Bids totaling $27,355 were reported and it was unanimously voted to accept the bids and award contracts. Low bidders were Larson Company, general construction, $5,400; J. H. Matthews and Sons, Inc., plumbing, $2,400; J. H. Matthews and Sons, Inc., heating and ventilating, $12,700; ERA Electrical Construction, with alternate No. 1 of $285, $6,855. There was also a second bid for electrical work by Davis Jacobs, Inc., for $11,422.

A bid of $687.50 was received from the Giles Drilling Company of Kearney, N. J., for test borings at the site for the "alternate seat of government" shelter. This sum is 75 per cent reimbursable from Civil Defense funds. The Building Committee recommended acceptance of the bid.

Minority Leader John C. Quimby (D), Marlboro, inquired whether test borings made for the county office building at the same site might not be available and suffice for the shelter project. He offered an amendment to the Relyea resolution that the matter be referred back to the Building Committee to consult with the architect and ascertain whether further boring was necessary, and if not then the chairman of the board be authorized to enter into the with alternate No. 1 of $285, $6,855. There was also a second bid for electrical work by Davis Jacobs, Inc., for $11,422.

Navy Guards Against Sea Escape

Marines Land, Cut Off Cong Assault on Hdq.

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Marines made an amphibious landing on an island off their Chu Lai beachhead today and cut off a Viet Cong force that overran a Vietnamese naval headquarters, a U.S. spokesman announced.

A U.S. Navy destroyer rushed to An Hoa island 345 miles northeast of Saigon to cut off the Reds if they tried to escape by sea. Three U.S. Navy advisers to the Vietnamese naval fleet's division headquarters were on the island when the Communist assault began. Their fate was not known.

The spokesman said the headquarters was overrun at 5 a.m. by a surprise attack but that some of the government force escaped in their junks. He said the Viet Cong force was less than a battalion in size.

The Leathernecks called out for the first time to rescue a government force under attack, launched an amphibious assault in tracked landing vehicles which they brought with them when they landed in Viet Nam three months ago.

They reportedly sliced across a corner of the island's southeast peninsula, cutting off the red attackers.

The spokesman refused to say how many Marines were rushed to An Hoa.

The spokesman also reported that four U.S. Army advisers were missing following the ambush of a Vietnamese army battalion 37 miles northwest of Saigon Thursday.

Other sources said nearly two thirds of the 365-man government force were casualties — 151 killed, 25 wounded and 59 missing.

The ambush was in the classic Viet Cong pattern. The Communists attacked the Xon Dua outposts (Continued on Page 8, Col. 1)

Pageant Declared Self Supporting, Plan 1966 Event

The 1965 Miss New York Pageant was a success and the officials today expressed appreciation for the tangible help and support given by the businessmen, the community, news media and the 125 or more volunteers who devoted time to stage this major event.

In releasing this statement today Albert Kurdt, executive director of the Miss New York Pageant said, "It is impossible to list all of those who helped, there are simply too many. This would necessarily include the officers and board of directors, production personnel and stage crew, hostesses, ushers, drivers for the 15 Olds convertibles, program book sales personnel, as well as those representing the press and radio."

Kurdt said, "It is too early to release accurate financial figures until all of the bills come in, but indications are that the Pageant was entirely self supporting with some funds left (Continued on Page 8, Col. 3)

Four Woodstock Business Places Are Burglarized

Burglars went on a spree in the Woodstock area sometime Wednesday night or early Thursday, and made off with about $100 in cash and assorted foods, tools and liquors, according to Kingston state police.

Places burglarized were Kullman's Garage, Irvington Inn, Woodstock Garage and the Grand Union Market, according to Trooper Craig Bremer, who said investigation was conducted yesterday by BCI Investigator Fred Grunwald.

Troopers reported the burglars forced their way into Kullman's Garage, pried open a cigarette machine and took about $40.

Investigation disclosed that a screen was pulled from a window of the Grand Union Market, a bar was removed and entry was made through the window. Missing from the store were six sirloin steaks, five pounds of fresh fish, 10 pounds of frying chicken and 44 cartons of assorted cigarettes. The total value was fixed at $152.

Entry to the Irving Inn was gained by prying molding from the glass on a door and removing the pane of glass. Taken from the inn were 11 bottles of liquors valued at $61, and an undetermined amount of cash taken from a juke box and coin-operated pool table.

The Woodstock Garage was entered through a window leading into the ladies' rest room. Inside the intruders made their way through the grease rack into the garage. Missing from the establishment was a set of socket wrenches and $46 in cash, a total value of $76, according to troopers.

STILL ALIVE DESPITE BURNS—Mrs. Ramona Franco de Portales is being tended by Dr. D. L. Herrick, left, and Robert Lawson at White Memorial Hospital in Los Angeles, Calif., where she is being treated after living in her mud hut in Mexico for two months with untreated third degree burns over 70 per cent of her body. Doctors said the woman had only aspirin to relieve her "living hell". She was burned when her clothes caught fire May 5.

Hudson River Water Ordered for New York

NEW YORK (AP)—The use of Hudson River water to supplement drought-plagued New York City's dwindling supply has been ordered by Mayor Robert F. Wagner.

The action, made public Thursday came in the wake of an order by the Delaware River Basin Commission that the city must reduce its consumption of Delaware River water by 75 million gallons a day, effective today, for a 30-day trial period. The commission, at a meeting in Philadelphia Wednesday, also directed New York to release 200 million gallons daily from dams in the Western Catskills to help maintain the flow of fresh water in the Delaware estuary.

Wagner ordered "as rapidly as possible" the replacement of the Chelsea pumping station north of Beacon, N.Y., to provide 100 million gallons of chlorinated water daily. The plant was built to alleviate a severe drought in 1950, but was never put into operation. Later, it was dismantled.

There was another drop in the level of water in the Unstate reservoirs. As of Thursday there were 241.8 billion gallons in the reservoirs, representing 50.7 per cent of capacity. This compared to 389.6 billion gallons and 81.8 per cent of capacity a year ago.

NO MORE HICCUPS—Mrs. Lucy McDonald gets hugged by her daughter, Susan, 10, on her return home from hospital at Atlanta, Ga. Mrs. McDonald has been hiccuping for two years. She now says she is confident her hiccup is gone for good. A divorcee, she must work to support her three children. (AP Wirephoto).

Troopers Get Three In Check

Grocer Identifies Pair After Threat

Two Brooklyn men were in custody at the Ulster County jail today in connection with an armed grocery store robbery in Poughkeepsie, violation of the Sullivan law—illegal possession of a loaded .38 caliber revolver—and possibly facing other felonies in the New York city area.

A third Brooklynite also was in jail here awaiting a hearing on a charge of possessing a loaded firearm.

Two of the trio have been identified by the Poughkeepsie grocer as his assailants. The grocer also identified a wallet found in the Brooklyn men's car as the one taken from him during the robbery last night.

The arrests of the trio resulted from the alertness of State Police Sergeant Edward Whalen and Trooper Joseph Czaplak of the Highland station, who stopped a car in which the three men were riding early this morning south of the Highland Traffic circle for a routine check.

The apprehending of the Brooklyn Negroes developed into a series of events which brought in police investigators from New York City, Poughkeepsie and State Police stations in Ulster County.

Trio Identified

State Police Sergeant William Cameron of Highland, identified the three men involved in the investigation as:

1. Warren Stoddard Ketchmore, 22, of 301 St. Mark's Avenue, Brooklyn.

2. Johnnie Lee Jones, 21, of 149 Levin Street, Brooklyn.

3. Alan McKinney, 24, of 348 Pacific Street, Brooklyn, who also reportedly gave another address of Montgomery Street, Poughkeepsie.

The three men were specifically charged by State Police with illegal possession of a firearm. They were arraigned early this morning before Justice of the Peace John O. Beaver, Town of Esopus.

Two Ask Examination

Ketchmore waived preliminary examination. He was committed to the county jail to await grand jury action. Jones and McKinney demanded an examination, which will be held at a later date in justice's court. Jones and McKinney were ordered held in lieu of $1,000 bail each.

Police Chief John L. Martin of Poughkeepsie told The Freeman that warrants were filed at the sheriff's office here charging McKinney and Ketchmore with first degree robbery in connection with an armed holdup in that city last night.

Martin reported that Ben Levy, a brother of Patrolman Meyer Levy of this city, and Deputy Sheriff Daniel Levy was in his store, Ben's Market at Pershing Avenue and Mansion Street, Poughkeepsie, late last night when two men entered, one armed with a gun.

Take Wallet, Money

Sergeant Cameron said police informed troopers that the hold-up pair ordered Levy to lie on the floor. The men took Levy's wallet and rifled the cash register. The accused robbers took $140 and fled. Levy notified police and roadblocks were set up.

Early this morning Sergeant Whalen and Trooper Czaplak stopped a car south of the Highland traffic circle for a routine check of the three occupants. Sergeant Cameron said the driver, Ketchmore, was unable to produce proper identification, and he was cited for driving without a license.

Gun Under Seat

Cameron said the three men were taken to the state police substation on Route 9W. A search of the car disclosed a loaded .38 caliber revolver hidden under the front seat, the sergeant told a reporter. The Sullivan law violations were lodged against the trio. Meanwhile, troopers received a call from Poughkeepsie police reporting the holdup at Levy's store. Descriptions of the holdup (Continued on Page 8, Col. 5)

Venezuelans Are Too Tender for Guerrilla Life

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Communist leaders apparently find many young Venezuelans cannot stand the guerrilla life.

That is a police official's explanation for a newly discovered psychiatry department in the Communist party, formed to screen recruits.

The so-called Armed Forces of National Liberation — FALN — aim to overthrow President Raul Leoni in a Castro-type revolution.

Youths, mostly high school and university students, are recruited for the guerrilla bands in the mountains of western Venezuela and east of Caracas. Many supposedly are attracted by the olive green uniforms, the jaunty berets, the submachine guns, the admiration of girl friends for daring young men.

An Interior Ministry source estimates, however, that only about one in four of the recruits has been able to take the hard life in the mountain jungles.

Many — hungry, bearded, dirty, bedraggled from days and nights in rain and mud — have given themselves up. Others apparently broke down after a few days and had to be sent home. Officials say 488 have been captured in 12 months.

That is why, officials believe, Communist leaders have been sending fresh recruits to party psychiatrists for examination to weed out those unlikely to endure hardships and bear up under fire in clashes with army detachments seeking them out.

In prison on a charge of heading the party's psychiatry department is Dr. Jose Marino Collina Leones, 40, a Caracas psychiatrist.

Police say documents seized in a raid on his clinic indicated party leaders gave each aspirant a bank note worth about $11 to pay the psychiatrist for his examination. Presumably the would-be guerrilla supposed it was an ordinary medical examination.

The note — with a serial number known to the doctor — was a sort of pass to let him know the real purpose of the visit.

Police said they found 34 of these notes in Collina's clinic.

The most important thing to remember about Blackwood, Gerber, Stayman, the Jacoby transfer or any other artificial convention is that much of the time you get on better without using it.

South is certainly interested in a slam after his partner raises his opening two diamond bid but South is far more interested in finding out about trump support and the heart suit than about kings. He knows about the aces because he is looking at all four of them.

Hence South rebids to three hearts and North shows his heart fit by raising to four. At this point, South plans to go to six or seven and continues his investigation by bidding four spades. North has nothing more to show at this time and just goes back to five diamonds, whereupon South bids six clubs. This puts matters squarely up to North. He reviews the bidding and notes that his partner is trying for a grand slam. He also notes that his partner's first cue bid was in hearts. Obviously

He cashes the ace of clubs at trick two, enters dummy with the ace of trumps, leads the eight of trumps to dummy's nine, ruffs the last club with the king of trumps overtakes his ten of trumps with dummy's jack, pulls West's last trump with dummy's last trump and discards his losing spade. Then he shows his hand and claims the balance.

Dear Abby . . .

She's Too Uninhibited!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We have a problem and I don't know exactly how to cope with it. It concerns our 11-year-old daughter. She's a very affectionate girl, and quite developed for her age. She is infatuated with a man who happens to be a very good friend of ours. He and his wife are at our home often. At first it was cute to see her run to him, throw her arms around his neck, and kiss him fiercely. We teased her about her "dream man," and he played along with the game. But it's no longer funny. If she's not sitting on his lap, she's very close to him. She holds his hand, and kisses him lingeringly on the lips. I notice he's very uncomfortable lately when she's around. My husband says we should ignore it as this is a stage all girls go through while growing up. I never had this problem while I was growing up. Is my husband right? Or should something be done? And, if so, how is this done without inhibiting our daughter's natural affectionate nature?

CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: Every normal adolescent girl has a "dream man." And there's no harm in it. But your daughter would be far better off drooling over a picture of Gregory Peck than sitting on your friend's lap. Tell your daughter that she's a young lady now and she must not be so aggressive. To ignore it would indicate approval on your part. And, further more, it's the responsibility of parents to see that guests in their home are not subjected to embarrassing situations.

DEAR ABBY: Eldon and I have been married for over a year and it's like pulling teeth to get him to visit my parents with me. When he does go, he just sits there like a bump on a log and doesn't say a word to them. When we get home I tell him if he doesn't talk to my folks they are going to think he is stuck up, or mad at them. He says my father doesn't know anything about sports and my mother doesn't shut up long enough for anyone to get a word in.

I think he could be more friendly for my sake. How can I get him to be more sociable with my folks? Or is it just a losing battle?

ELDON'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Leave him alone. Perhaps he still feels a little uncomfortable in their presence. Be glad he goes with you, even if he's no jumboree.

DEAR ABBY: The switchboard operator-receptionist girl here seems to be using her job to make "contacts." If a salesman comes in, she gets palsy-walsy with him and before you know it she's got a lunch date or dinner date with him. She's considered an eye-ful, if you like the type who overdresses and uses a lot of makeup. She claims she always asks if a man is married before she accepts a date with him, as married men are off her list. (Big deal! She only picks up unmarried strangers.) She's a divorcee and supports two small children so we hate to report her to the office manager because it might cost her her job. What do you suggest?

THE GIRLS

DEAR GIRLS: An "eye-ful" who must support two children also has a "headful" to land a job where she can meet men. From here it appears that the girl is only trying to meet men with honorable intentions. I suggest that you girls pull in your claws.

CONFIDENTIAL TO THE THREE MUSKETEERS: Every time you sling a little mud, you lose a little ground.

Plan on Cameras, Computers to Trap Car Thieves

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Television cameras and computers are planned for use in New York State to help apprehend automobile thieves and other persons using stolen cars.

The plan, under development by the State Identification and Intelligence System, was announced Thursday by Gov. Rockefeller's office.

Here is an outline of the plan: — Cameras would be placed near toll booths, traffic lights, stop signs, bridges, tunnel entrances and entrances to limited access highways.

— As each automobile passed by the camera its plate would be televised and fed to the computer. If the plate matched one on the agency's wanted list, the computer would signal the police nearest the camera.

TODAY IN HISTORY

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, July 9, the 190th day of 1965. There are 175 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1755, Gen. Edward Braddock's British regulars marched, as in dress parade, against the French-held Ft. Duquesne. The British ran into a hail of musketry fire from an enemy they could not even see in the thick forest. The Redcoats retreated, leaving the area of what is now Pittsburgh to the French. Braddock was killed; his only surviving aide was young George Washington.

On this date:

In 1850, the nation's 12th president, Zachary Taylor, died after 16 months in office.

In 1916, the first merchant submarine to cross the Atlantic and the first in time of war, the German "Deutschland," arrived in Chesapeake Bay from Germany.

In 1927, one of the greats of the American theater, John Drew, died after being stricken on stage in San Francisco.

In 1944, Japanese resistance ended on Saipan in the Marianas Islands after a battle of nearly a month.

Ten years ago—nine scientists—seven of them Nobel Prize winners—published an appeal to end the use of thermonuclear bombs and to abolish war.

Five years ago—President Dwight D. Eisenhower, following a threat by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to retaliate with rockets if the United States intervened in Cuba, warned he never would permit the establishment of a Communist-dominated government in the Western Hemisphere.

One year ago—A United Air Lines Viscount plane crashed near Newport, Tenn., killing all 39 aboard.

Atonement Lists Summer Program Autumn Outlook

The Rev. Walter Cowen, pastor of Atonement Lutheran Church, 100 Market Street, has announced plans and programs scheduled by the church for the summer months.

A new asphalt composition roof has been put on the parish educational building on Market Street.

Church Council will meet Tuesday, July 13, at 7:30 p. m., in the church building.

The Rev. Hugh Whitaker, pastor of St. Matthew's Lutheran Church, Oswego, N. Y., will serve as vacation minister.

Parents of children through the age of 12 will receive letters this week from the pastor dealing with Operation Head Start. Parents are urged to give their children a "head start" on religion by seeing that they memorize a portion of the enclosed Lutheran catechism each day.

Sodality Speaker

The Sodality of Our Lady of St. Mary's Parish had a communion breakfast recently in the school cafeteria. Mrs. Florence Meyer and Mrs. Dorothy Breithaupt were co-chairmen for the affair.

The guest speaker was Miss Marita Rinaldi, 211 Washington Avenue, Saugerties. A very interesting and informative talk was given about her experiences of the past year. She served as a lay volunteer for the Catholic Church Extension Society with headquarters in Chicago under the direction of the Rev. John Sullivan. Hundreds of volunteers, making up a Catholic "Peace Corps" and sponsored by the Catholic Church Extension Society, have penetrated the Southern and Western United States from Provo, Utah, across Kiln, Miss. to Ponce, Puerto Rico, plus the Chicago inter-racial areas. These volunteers, 90 per cent of whom have college degrees, serve as teachers, social workers, Christian community workers, campus Newman center coordinators and medical personnel in areas where local personnel is not available to fill the needs of the church.

The customary procedure is to volunteer for two years. Miss Rinaldi was stationed during the past year with the Benedictine Monks of New Subiaco Abbey, Subiaco, Ark. as a Christian community worker. On Aug. 1 she will report to Texas for further assignment. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Rinaldi.

Congregational Notes

Church school sessions at the First Congregational Church are in recess until September. Instruction for children will be given during a portion of the morning worship service which is at 10 a. m. during the summer. Nursery class will be maintained if the demand warrants it.

A limited number of Congregational students will be accepted in the Katsbaan Reformed Church daily vacation Bible school which starts July 12. Interested parents may contact the Rev. F. J. Imhoff, pastor.

The semi-annual congregational meeting will be held July 15 at 7:30 p. m. The church school teachers meeting scheduled for July 8 was postponed to a later date. A baked foods sale is scheduled July 17.

Proposes Executive Committee

Martorana Keeps Pressing For GOP Parley Ballots

Supervisor Joseph Martorana (R-Plattekill), who is seeking the Republican nomination for state senator, said today he has called upon Assemblyman Kenneth Wilson (R-Woodstock), Ulster County GOP chairman, to permit the use of write-in secret paper ballots at the County GOP Convention, July 17 in Kingston.

He also asked Wilson "to set the wheels in motion" for the creation of a County Republican Executive Committee.

Martorana said that he has written all Ulster County GOP committeemen urging their support for the write-in paper ballots. He said that "this year, with so many candidates running for office, especially for surrogate and sheriff, the secret method of voting will be fair to the delegates as well as the candidates. This method of voting," he said, "will result in a true expression of the sentiments of those attending the County Convention. It will be fair to the candidates and it will bring honor to the Republican organization."

Cites His View

In urging creation of County Executive Committee, the Plattekill supervisor said that "if such a committee were in existence today, the stigma of one-man rule would not exist and the Republican Party in Ulster County would not be in the condition it finds itself today."

He apparently referred to a charge by Wilson on Thursday that a "small segment" of Republican politicians has threatened him with "political blackmail" and possible opposition to his reelection in the fall to the State Assembly. "For political reasons," Wilson said that he was not personally backing any candidate for office and that the party-recommended candidates will be decided at the July 17 Convention.

Martorana asked Wilson to take immediate action on his proposals because the present rules of the County GOP Committee would have to be amended before July 17. He said approval of his proposals "will truly return a sense of fair play and equal opportunity to all

Grant to Study School Building Program in Area

Schools in a five-county region of southeastern New York have received a $10,000 Ford Foundation grant to study whether commonly-designed building components can be devised as a money saving measure in school construction.

The grant by Educational Facilities Laboratories, which was established by the Ford Foundation, was given to the Mid-Hudson School Study Council, State University College, New Paltz, whose membership covers schools in Ulster, Dutchess, Putnam, Orange, and Sullivan counties. The study will be conducted by Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute's School of Architecture and officials of the Council.

A similar project sponsored by the Laboratories brought together 13 school districts in California to design and use specially-manufactured building components which would fit together interchangeably. Somewhat similar techniques are presently used in pre-built home construction. California officials hope that substantial savings can be made in their $30 million dollar school construction program in the districts.

The feasibility study, to be completed this fall, will sample "the school construction climate in the Mid-Hudson region" to determine whether the program might work in that area. It will involve building codes, planning procedures, and legal aspects of components construction, and will consider the views of architects, engineers, contractors, labor, and building components manufacturers.

Rensselaer faculty members with the aid of the Study Council will conduct the investigation. The Council's Executive Secretary is Dr. William J. Hageny, Professor of Education at State University College, New Paltz.

Rensselaer School of Architecture faculty members participating are: Harry E. Rodman, Professor; Wayne F. Koppes, Professor; Ray D. Caravati, Associate Professor; Alan C. Green, Associate Professor and Project Coordinator; M. C. Gassman, Associate Professor; and David S. Haviland, Research Assistant.

Members of the Mid-Hudson School Study Council advisory committee include three school superintendents: Dr. Harold Monson, Newburgh, Chairman, (President of the MHSSC); Superintendent E. Joseph Kegan, Wappingers Falls; and Superintendent Walter Panas of Lake-land Central School.

Ladies Aid Meets To Plan Annual Fair

In order to complete plans for the annual benefit fair, members of the Tillson Reformed Church Ladies Aid Society will attend a special meeting July 12 at 7:30 p. m. at the church.

The fair will take place on the grounds adjacent to the church Saturday, July 24. Complete details will be announced following the meeting.

Consider Utility Tax

A proposal to re-impose a three per cent tax on utilities—electricity, natural gas, telephones and telegraph service—is being considered by the Mid-Hudson Board of Education as a means of raising revenue for school costs. The board has earmarked $113,000 in its 1965-66 budget for revenues from the tax. A recent public hearing was attended by only nine residents of the district. One man spoke in opposition to the plan.

HAMPERING THE RACE

The world, whether or not most of us realize it, is engaged in a race that is global in extent and crucial in its implications for the future of humanity. The reference is not to the attempts to avert nuclear war or curb the explosive rise in world population, though these also are of vital importance. What we have in mind is the race to boost the living standards of economically backward people before they are driven to revolt.

The fact is that this effort and the other two mentioned—to forestall the impending nuclear holocaust and bring the population explosion under control—are closely intertwined. The population increase is directly related to the economic difficulties suffered by many nations. The threat of global war is heightened by failure to give the suffering peoples hopes for a better life.

The best chance of meeting this challenge lies in the United Nations. For only through worldwide cooperative effort can we hope to provide the underdeveloped nations with enough help, fast enough, to prevent disaster.

Well, then, is such a cooperative effort being made? To some extent, yes. Though the United Nations has been shaken by internal disputes over peace-keeping assessments and voting rights, the work of its agencies goes on.

But not on a large enough scale to do the job: that is the essential point. Secretary General U Thant put his finger on the nub of the matter when he said that the East-West political crisis threatened U.N. efforts to help the developing nations at a crucial time in their struggle against "progressive misery." Unless the great powers can resolve this crisis and focus on the larger problems that confront the human race, all the world will suffer immeasurably.

DO YOU SMOKE?

Are you "restless, nervous, extroverted, energetic, thrill-seeking, independent and academically oriented toward the social sciences and engineering?"

If so, you probably smoke too much as well.

Or perchance you are "puritanical, conservative, stable, agreeable, dependable, religious and oriented toward the physical sciences and engineering?"

Then you probably don't smoke at all.

These at any rate are some of the characteristics turned up by John Pflaum, a behavioral scientist at the University of Wisconsin, who investigated the personalities of smokers and nonsmokers.

Despite their other admirable traits and cigarette advertisements to the contrary, men who smoke are, as a group, he says, more feminine than those who don't and are less inclined to participate in sports. Those who smoke may be symbolically searching for masculinity.

Other Pflaum contentions you may want to put in your pipe and—er, think about: Nonsmokers are better marriage prospects than smokers.

Heavy smokers are more creative than nonsmokers.

Nonsmokers are chosen more frequently by the U.S. Navy; heavy smokers get drafted into the Army.

Among high school and college students, "smoking reflects a lack of involvement in the scholastic program and an attempt to obtain satisfactions outside the school environment."

For some youngsters, smoking may be a compromise solution to the inability to enjoy other pleasures which society frowns upon.

In times of famine, tobacco is often chosen by starving people in preference to food.

CAR INSURANCE RISING

The prospect of an imminent rise in auto insurance rates in most states is not one that will please the nation's motorists. But the fact is that they, rather than other pertinent factors, are mainly responsible for such increases.

It is true that part of the blame must be borne by occasional excessive jury awards

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
LORD RUSSELL, MCCARTHYITE

Bertrand Russell, or Lord Russell, as we colonialists should say, would be the last person in the world to commend the research practices attributed to the late Senator Joe McCarthy. But the venerable British Lord, mathematician and philosopher has just been caught in the most flagrant instance of "McCarthyism" that we have come across lately.

It happened the other night on the Merv Griffin WPIX-TV (Channel 11) program. After denouncing the "strategic hamlets" strategy in Vietnam and accusing the Americans of setting up the "tinest minority of people in Vietnam... as a puppet government," Lord Russell quoted from an "extract published in the Dallas Morning News on January 1, 1965." Here is the quotation:

"Supposedly, the purpose of the forty-five villages is to keep the Viet Cong out. But barbed wire denies entrance and exit. Vietnamese farmers are forced, at gun point, into these virtual concentration camps. Their homes, possessions and crops are burned. In the province of Ken Tuong, seven villagers were led into the town square, their stomachs were slashed, their liver extracted and put on display. These victims were women and children. In another village, expectant mothers were invited to the square by government forces to be honored. Their stomachs were ripped open, and their unborn babies removed."

Lord Russell went on to say that he could read "any number of extracts from any number of newspapers" saying "this is what America is doing." But it could be that he would have to go to the Communist press for his passages. I keep up with a wide variety of American newspapers, and I haven't seen anything like the quotation which Lord Russell took from the Dallas Morning News.

As it turns out, the quotation was not from the news or editorial columns of the Dallas paper. Smelling a rat, Merv Griffin did the research that Lord Russell should have done and discovered that the extract had come from a letter to the Dallas Morning News written by Nu Goyman Taibin, a Vietnamese businessman who has been living in France. Nu Goyman Taibin, an opponent of the Diem regime, was not in South Vietnam at the time of the alleged atrocities which he so graphically described.

Now, Lord Russell was speaking the literal truth when he said of the Nu Goyman Taibin letter that "this is here a quotation from a paper in Dallas." But when he went on to say, whimsically, that "Dallas is not generally considered in the forefront of revolution," he left his listeners with the distinct impression that the quotation came from a source which the Dallas News editors would stand behind.

When Merv Griffin heard Lord Russell's "quotation from a paper in Dallas," he obviously assumed that it was something from a reputable news source. Said Griffin, "I am amazed, on this, that there wasn't an investigation." All that Lord Russell managed to say was, "Well, I don't... remember that anybody was punished," said Griffin, but then the normal Griffin skepticism took over. A call to the Dallas paper brought out the fact that the quotation was from a letter from a partisan who was not an eyewitness to any of the alleged atrocities.

It pains me, personally, to see Lord Russell using as evidence something that no judge in his right mind would accept in any court where Anglo-Saxon traditions of justice prevail. For Lord Russell was once a great logician. Some forty years ago I read his "Proposed Roads to Freedom," and marveled at his lucidity, his balance and his skepticism. He still retains the lucidity, but the skepticism which led him to check and recheck his premises in the old days has quite evaporated with age. Too bad that the man who hates "McCarthyism" should have become the mirror image of the thing he attacks.

Alcohol, Drugs Trigger
Porphyrin Attacks

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—What is porphyria and what is the treatment?

A—Porphyrin is a disease of unknown cause. Heredity appears to play a role. Alcohol and barbiturates may trigger an attack in persons who are susceptible to this disease. The liver of these persons produces an excess of porphyrin, a purple pigment necessary in the formation of hemoglobin.

The disease is manifested by repeated attacks of severe abdominal cramps, constipation and weakness. The victims are overly sensitive to sunlight which may cause severe blistering. The urine, which appears normal at first may turn a burgundy red on exposure to sunlight.

While there is no simple cure, victims are benefited by avoiding alcohol and exposure to the sun. If an operation must be performed, it is important to tell both the surgeon and the anesthetist about this condition so they will not give any barbiturates.

Several other drugs have recently been added to the list to be avoided. These include diethylstilbestrol (a female hormone), griseofulvin (a drug to control ringworm), meprobamate and chlorazepoxide (tranquilizers) and several anticonvulsants.

If alcohol has precipitated an attack, blood-letting gives prompt relief. In others severe attacks have been controlled by the use of the artificial kidney.

Q—My 18-year-old daughter got Sherman's disease. How long will it last? Is there any cure?

A—You are probably referring to Scheuermann's disease which affects the growth centers (epiphyses) of the vertebrae. It results in a forward curvature of the spine for which a body cast or back brace is usually worn. In younger children the disease may last several years but it disappears when bony growth ceases—usually in the 17th or 18th year. If your daughter wears a brace until the disease has run its course, she should not have any disability or unwanted after effects of the disease.

Q—What is an adenocarcinoma of the prostate and what is the best treatment?

A—This is a form of cancer. The only treatment is prompt and complete removal followed by X-ray treatment and hormones.

for damages, and by rising medical and repair expenses. Rates are fixed in proportion to the cost of making good on claims. However, the nub of the matter is that there are simply more accidents. In most cases, drivers are responsible.

That mouth-filling old phrase, "extenuating circumstances," can be used to temper the blame somewhat if one is so inclined. Driving is tougher these days, if only because there are a lot more cars on the road than there used to be. All the same, the thing boils down to a blunt truth: Poor driving boosts the number of road accidents, that raises insurance costs, and premium rates are going up accordingly.

Now the French government has put the future of the Common Market in doubt. One thing about DeGaulle, he seems to have a large supply of monkey wrenches.

WASHINGTON (NEA)

America's interest in the future of Puerto Rico has risen since the spread of Castroite communism through the Caribbean.

Our military intervention in the badly torn Dominican Republic is a gauge of the fear felt here that the whole region is vulnerable.

A U.S. government which often has declared its willingness to cut all bonds with Puerto Rico may have to hope now that the island's people never alter their present overwhelming disposition to stay within the U.S. fold.

That mood is so strong that last November the Independence party gained a mere 2.7 per cent of the island-wide vote in the election which gave the governorship to Roberto Sanchez Velez. The party dropped a full point from its 3.7 per cent in 1960.

Knowledgeable sources believe that the dim outlook for independence at the polls is well understood by Sanchez Velez and his leftist intellectuals whose anti-American and "independentista" sentiments are realized by few Puerto Ricans.

These insiders, "The Group of 22," are thought to rest their hopes in the prospect of an incident. Says one source:

"They can't gain popular support as things are. They have to try to manipulate some misunderstanding, some emotional difference with the United States."

"They have to hope that in such circumstances the United States government would do something to humiliate the Puerto Ricans, to kick them in the teeth. Then they would say 'we can't take this.'"

Since the popular mood favoring good ties with mainland America makes the moment inopportune, "The Group" is said to be consolidating its positions of influence around Sanchez and biding time.

Meanwhile, their distaste for Americans and their contempt for former Gov. Luis Munoz Marin is ill-concealed from the few Puerto Ricans who are aware of their bent.

One man reports that their descriptions of Munoz, who for more than two decades was the islanders' father image, add up to a kind of Spanish-language version of "senile old crock."

Munoz is known to be deeply hurt that Sanchez never has consulted him in the six months since he succeeded him as governor. The former governor, stunned by the turn of events, has not yet spoken out because the "insider independentistas" have not offered him a convenient target.

Most of these young intellectuals were nurtured in the seedbed of the University of Puerto Rico, where the independence movement has attracted both students and faculty.

It is being surmised that, having appraised the feeble independence party as a hopeless route to their goal, they join the majority Popular Democratic party to press the cause from within. Some time ago they took over that party's youth group.

How they managed to move in on Sanchez is still a mystery to Munoz and other worried old hands in his party. One or two suggest that, as a lifetime adviser to Sanchez, he may not grasp what his ambitious appointees are up to.

The irony in the situation is acute, since it was assumed that Sanchez would do nothing to depart in any way from Munoz' established policy—continued commonwealth status for the island, with its unique blend of political autonomy and strong link with mainland America.

Nevertheless, the "insider independentistas" are in fact Sanchez' closest advisers today. And most of them were installed, it should be noted, long before the Dominican affair stirred the frail independence party to new public outcries.

Atonement Lists Summer Program Autumn Outlook

The Rev. Walter Cowen, pastor of Atonement Lutheran Church, 100 Market Street, has announced plans and programs scheduled by the church for the summer months.

A new asphalt composition roof has been put on the parish educational building on Market Street.

Church Council will meet Tuesday, July 13, at 7:30 p. m., in the church building.

The Rev. Hugh Whitaker, pastor of St. Matthew's Lutheran Church, Oswego, N. Y., will serve as vacation minister.

Parents of children through the age of 12 will receive letters this week from the pastor dealing with Operation Head Start. Parents are urged to give their children a "head start" on religion by seeing that they memorize a portion of the enclosed Lutheran catechism each day.

Letters have also been relayed to Atonement parishioners asking them to consider joining the faculty of the Sunday Church School. Parishioners invited to teach have regular attendance records, have a working knowledge of scripture and have displayed interest in the guiding of youth in the Christian faith, according to the pastor.

Sodality Speaker

The Sodality of Our Lady of St. Mary's Parish had a communion breakfast recently in the school cafeteria. Mrs. Florence Meyer and Mrs. Dorothy Breithaupt were co-chairmen for the affair.

The guest speaker was Miss Maria Rinaldi, 211 Washington Avenue, Saugerties. A very interesting and informative talk was given about her experiences of the past year. She served as a lay volunteer for the Catholic Church Extension Society with headquarters in Chicago under the direction of the Rev. John Sullivan. Hundreds of volunteers, making up a Catholic "Peace Corps" and sponsored by the Catholic Church Extension Society, have penetrated the Southern and Western United States from Provo, Utah, across Kiln, Miss. to Ponce, Puerto Rico, plus the Chicago inter-racial areas. These volunteers, 90 per cent of whom have college degrees, serve as teachers, social workers, Christian community workers, campus Newman center coordinators and medical personnel in areas where local personnel is not available to fill the needs of the church.

The customary procedure is to volunteer for two years. Miss Rinaldi was stationed during the past year with the Benedictine Monks of New Subiaco Abbey, Subiaco, Ark., in the city of Clarksville, Ark. as a Christian community worker. On Aug. 1 she will report to Texas for further assignment. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Rinaldi.

Congregational Notes

Church school sessions at the First Congregational Church are in recess until September. Instruction for children will be given during a portion of the morning worship service which is at 10 a. m. during the summer. Nursery class will be maintained if the demand warrants it.

A limited number of Congregational students will be accepted in the Katsbaan Reformed Church daily vacation Bible school which starts July 12. Interested parents may contact the Rev. F. J. Imhoff, pastor.

The semi-annual congregational meeting will be held July 15 at 7:30 p. m. The church school teachers meeting scheduled for July 8 was postponed to a later date. A baked foods sale is scheduled July 17.

Proposes Executive Committee

Martorana Keeps Pressing For GOP Parley Ballots

Supervisor Joseph Martorana (R-Plattekill), who is seeking the Republican nomination for state senator, said today he has called upon Assemblyman Kenneth Wilson (R-Woodstock), Ulster County GOP chairman, to permit the use of write-in secret paper ballots at the County GOP Convention, July 17 in Kingston.

He also asked Wilson "to set the wheels in motion" for the creation of a County Republican Executive Committee.

Martorana said that he has written all Ulster County GOP committeemen urging their support for the write-in paper ballots. He said that "this year, with so many candidates running for office, especially for surrogate and sheriff, the secret method of voting will be fair to the delegates as well as the candidates. This method of voting," he said, "will result in a true expression of the sentiments of those attending the County Convention. It will be fair to the candidates and it will bring honor to the Republican organization."

Cites His View

In urging creation of County Executive Committee, the Plattekill supervisor said that "if such a committee were in existence today, the stigma of one-man rule would not exist and the Republican Party in Ulster County would not be in the condition it finds itself today."

He apparently referred to a charge by Wilson on Thursday that a "small segment" of Republican politicians has threatened him with "political blackmail" and possible opposition to his reelection in the fall to the State Assembly, "for political reasons." Wilson said that he was not personally backing any candidate for office and that the party-recommended candidates will be decided at the July 17 Convention.

Martorana asked Wilson to take immediate action on his proposals because the present rules of the County GOP Committee would have to be amended before July 17. He said approval of his proposals "will truly return a sense of fair play and equal opportunity to all sie Spielman Mower. The donation has been designed for the building fund. A gift was presented in memory of Harold Brooks also.

Grant to Study School Building Program in Area

Schools in a five-county region of southeastern New York have received a $10,000 Ford Foundation grant to study whether commonly-designed building components can be devised as a money saving measure in school construction.

The grant by Educational Facilities Laboratories, which was established by the Ford Foundation, was given to the Mid-Hudson School Study Council, State University College, New Paltz, whose membership covers schools in Ulster, Dutchess, Putnam, Orange, and Sullivan counties. The study will be conducted by Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute's School of Architecture and officials of the Council.

A similar project sponsored by the Laboratories brought together 13 school districts in California to design and use specially-manufactured building components which would fit together interchangeably. Somewhat similar techniques are presently used in pre-built home construction. California officials hope that substantial savings can be made in their $30 million dollar school construction program in the districts.

The feasibility study, to be completed this fall, will sample "the school construction climate in the Mid-Hudson region" to determine whether the program might work in that area. It will involve building codes, planning procedures, and legal aspects of components construction, and will consider the views of architects, engineers, contractors, labor, and building components manufacturers.

Rensselaer faculty members with the aid of the Study Council will conduct the investigation. The Council's Executive Secretary is Dr. William J. Hagerty, Professor of Education at State University College, New Paltz.

Rensselaer School of Architecture faculty members participating are: Harry E. Rodman, Professor; Wayne F. Koppes, Associate Professor; Alan C. Green, Associate Professor and Project Coordinator; M. C. Gassman, Associate Professor; and David S. Haviland, Research Assistant.

Members of the Mid-Hudson School Study Council advisory committee include three school superintendents: Dr. Harold Monson, Newburgh, Chairman, (President of the MHSSC); Superintendent E. Joseph Kegan, Wappingers Falls; and Superintendent Walter Panas of Lake-land Central School.

Consider Utility Tax

A proposal to re-impose a three per cent tax on utilities—electricity, natural gas, telephones and telegraph service—is being considered by the Middletown Board of Education as a means of raising revenue for school costs. The board has earmarked $113,000 in its 1965-66 budget for revenues from the tax. A recent public hearing was attended by only nine residents of the district. One man spoke in opposition to the plan.

Raymond Myers Kingston Kiwanis Club President

Raymond F. Myers was elected president of the Kingston Kiwanis Club Thursday due to the resignation of William F. Murray. The new president had served as first vice president.

In his letter of resignation, Murray referred to the pressure of business as making it impossible for him to continue in the leadership post of the Kiwanis Club. Murray now works for the Urban Renewal office.

Harold E. Keator Jr. was elevated to the office of first vice president and former Mayor Frederick Stang was elected second vice president.

Harry M. Thayer of Station WHGQ talked on the theme, "How tall we have to be—not in stature but in thought and action."

He called for action on the part of service club members in helping to combat the narcotics problem. In support of a new city charter, he said we need to function on a modern level.

He declared Urban Renewal is a must and emphasized that it was very badly handled. He said he was for a county sales tax.

He also spoke of the $41,500 landscaping project for the county office building. He charged also that effort was not being made to bring businesses to the county.

Other items of business concerned the announcement of a combination auction - rummage sale to be held by the Kingston Kiwanis Club on September 11, with John R. Shults Jr. in charge, and a report from the Support of Churches of Kingston, H. Robert Hoderath chairman, that the committee would have charge of summer church services at the Home for the Aged, with Frederick Stang listed as the speaker for the 7 p. m. service on Sunday, July 11.

Wilson Is . . .

mittie's loyalty to its County Chairman, Mr. Wilson, visably moved, gave his thanks to the Committee. In expressing his appreciation for the support, Wilson said "I do not wish to belabor the point about which we have already had so much discussion, but let me make it once again very clear to all concerned that I have at no time given my endorsement to any candidate for surrogate."

However, if this small group of power hungry lawyers continue in their attempts to smear a worthy candidate such as Maurice Goldberg, and continue their attacks of half truths, right lies and character assassination, I may have no choice except to make my stand and express my endorsement.

Let it be fully understood that if these men carry out their blackmail threat to run against me in the coming primary, I say to them to come ahead, and let the chips fall where they may."

Several new committeemen were introduced to the group: Ronald Haines, 2nd Ward; Angeline Carpio and LeRoy Williams, 8th Ward; Richard Kelders, 7th Ward; Felix Ambrose, 8th Ward; Anthony Erena and Paul Bierwisch, 10th Ward.

Also attending the meeting were Mrs. Rose LeFever, vice chairman, Ulster County Republican Committee, and former Surrogate Judge John Sterley, treasurer of the Ulster County Republican Committee.

Fairley's resolution and its unanimous adoption followed a lengthy discussion by Chairman Mayone, Assemblyman Wilson and the Committee over the current Radio controversy concerning the race for Surrogate and its ramifications as effects the City Republican campaign.

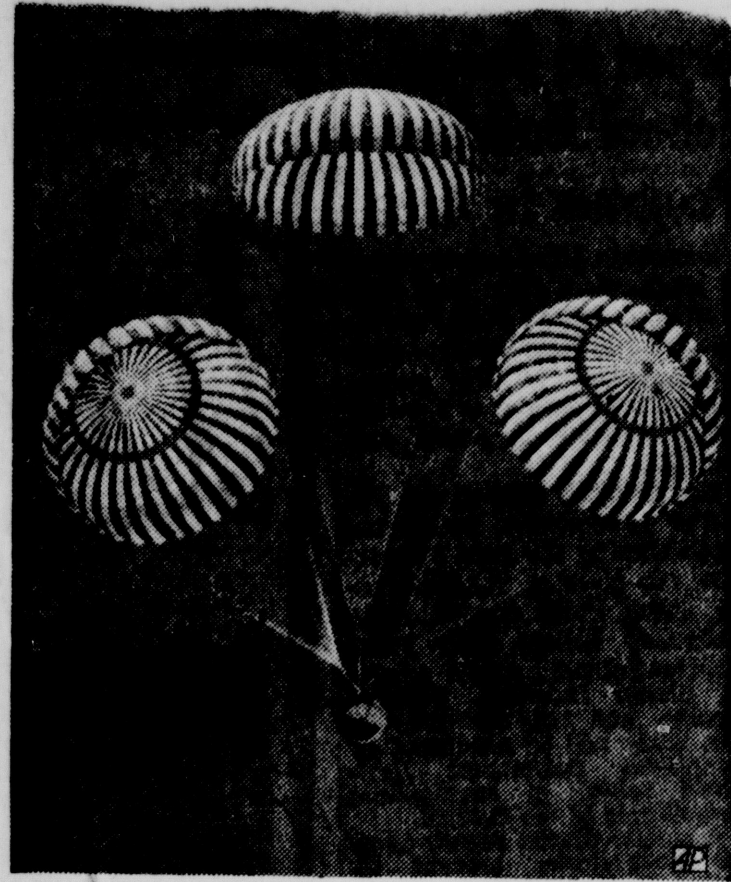

James E. Martin, Committeeman from the 12th Ward offered a Resolution, seconded by Samuel J. Perry of the 5th Ward as follows:

Support Newcombe
"We, the Republican Committee of the City of Kingston do herewith endorse, affirm and approve the action of the recently convened Senatorial Delegation in nominating Lloyd Newcombe for State Senator for the 43rd Senatorial District. We further pledge the efforts of the Kingston City Committee to assure Lloyd Newcombe's nomination and election."

The Newcombe resolution also received the unanimous vote of approval.

Other Business
Other business on the agenda included discussion of the City Delegation procedure to be followed at the County Convention on July 17th. Chairman Mayone announced that the City Delegation would vote on all matters in private caucuses at the convention and all voting results would be given on a Unit basis.

There was also considerable discussion concerning the ward caucuses to be held this Saturday evening for both the county and city conventions. The Kingston City Convention will be held on Monday evening, July 19th at 8 p. m. at the Ulster County Court House and will be converted for the purpose of nominating candidates for Mayor, Alderman-at-Large and City Judge. Mayone announced that a special meeting of the City Committee would be held next Thursday, July 15th at which time the candidates would be presented to the group, and endorsement given by the Committeemen prior to the City Convention. Desire Is Growing In America to Adopt Orphans

By CHARLES L. WEST

NEW YORK (AP) — As the war in Viet Nam grows, so does the interest of Americans in adopting children orphaned by the fighting, relief agencies report.

Legal red tape all but prevents actually bringing the children into U.S. homes.

But the various agencies, supported by public contributions, are caring for some 25,000 homeless children in Viet Nam, along with tens of thousands of other refugees.

A news photograph — like other memorable pictures of the child victims of past wars — did much to intensify Americans' desire to help. This was Associated Press Pulitzer prize-winning photographer Horst Faas' picture of a bandaged girl crying as she limped away from the Dong Xoai outpost where her parents had been killed in battle.

Offers of help poured in from all over America and abroad.

"I want to adopt that little girl," an Oak Lawn, Ill., woman wrote the Foster Parents Plan headquarters in New York. "We have to do something constructive in order to overcome communism. Here is a victim of communism, twice a victim. I would be delighted if I could have that child. I wanted her at once."

The Foster Parents program enables an individual to adopt a child by proxy — orphaned or not — contributing $15 a month to care for him in his native country. Worldwide, the program now numbers 4,500 Vietnamese among the children it helps.

An American in Saigon, Miss A. Elizabeth Brown, and a staff of 28 South Vietnamese locate the children to fill the 25-50 inquiries to Foster Parents each week.

The first voluntary agency to go into Viet Nam and set up a relief program, at the request of the U.S. government, was the Catholic Relief Services in 1954. This agency now cares for about 20,000 orphans at four orphanages and a huge refugee camp. It is planning construction of three more orphanages.

Dutchess Democrats Nominate Candidates

Dutchess County Democratic committee members met Thursday night at the County Courthouse and nominated a slate of candidates for the November election.

Receiving unanimous nominations were: Noel Schechter, for state senator; Assemblyman Victor C. Waryas for another term as assemblyman for District 108; David Buren, Putnam County for assemblyman for District 107.

Others who were the unanimous choice of the committee were: City Judge Milton Haven and Assistant City Judge William Colko for county judgeships; John R. Gardner, former vice president of the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp., for county treasurer.

The county Republican committee met on Wednesday and named a full ticket for the fall election.

will be presented to the Convention as a nominee for the post of City Judge.

Candidate Newcombe spoke to the group. He stated his qualifications for the post of State Senator and expressed his opinion that the support of the Ulster County Convention would do much toward clearing the Senatorial-candidate picture. Mr. Newcombe also stated that he believed he presented the best based candidacy since he had his roots in Ulster County, some of his family still residing in Kingston, he having attended Kingston public schools; he presently conducting a business in Greene and Ulster Counties; his mother residing in Sullivan County; his contacts with the rank and file members of the Republican Party through his vigorous campaigning. He stated that "if I am honored with the nomination I pledge to you a most strenuous and organized campaign, and promise my full support to the entire Republican ticket in Ulster County."

Two other men who have been charged with the murder, Guy Beaudet, 32, and Albert Couture, 36, both of Montreal, were captured here but waived extradition. They are awaiting trial.

Child, 9, Abducted As Bandit Gets $256

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Despite the tearful appeal of her mother and an intensive search by more than 200 officers and volunteers, no trace has been found of 9-year-old Denise Clinton, believed kidnapped in a motel robbery early Thursday.

Maj. James Newman, chief of detectives, said: "We're urging all property owners within a 10-mile radius to search their own property. We'll appreciate any lead."

A police spokesman said the FBI had officially entered the case.

Denise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Clinton of nearby Independence, Mo., was abducted while visiting overnight with her grandparents who manage the motel on U. S. 71, about 15 miles from downtown Kansas City.

A bandit took $256 from the motel, tied and gagged the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Chelece Reynolds, and drove off. The Reynolds freed themselves and moments later discovered Denise was missing.

Denise, a reddish-blond with blue eyes and freckles across her nose, had been asleep on a couch in a room next to theirs. She was dressed in a blue and white checkered nightgown.

Police Chief C. M. Kelley said there was no apparent motive. The girl's father is a service manager for a car agency.

Waterspouts reach 2,000 feet into the sky. These phenomena occur at sea in air currents, often over warm waters. As warm air expands and rises, cooler air rushes in to replace it. A whirling motion begins. Vapors in the twisting column condense and unite with turbulent water from the sea.

Police Chief Shot At Lyndonville, Vt.

LYNDONVILLE, Vt. (AP) — Police Chief Alexander Fontecha, 45, was shot to death at his home early Friday.

State Police apprehended a 72-year-old barber shortly after the shooting.

State Police Lt. Chester L. Nash said he and a trooper arrested Ellis H. Metevier at his barber shop on Depot Street shortly after the shooting. No charges were placed immediately.

Nash said he had no idea why the shooting occurred in this town of some 3,000, eight miles north of St. Johnsbury.

Nash said Metevier had a shotgun in the barber shop, but added there was no incident when he was arrested.

It was not known what kind of weapon was used on Fontecha, nor how many times he was shot, Nash said. A medical examiner was on his way to the scene.

Fontecha was the father of two children; Metevier has two grown children.

Fontecha came to Lyndonville in 1958 to operate the one-man department. He was a former chief of the Northfield Police Department.

River Scenery, Gypsy Moths Are Resnick Concern

Re-scheduling for hearings on the Hudson Highlands National Scenic Riverway and investigation of damage in the area by the gypsy moth, were among items dealt with today by Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick (D-Ellenville).

He said that July 26 has been set by the Congressional subcommittee on National Parks and Recreation as the new date for hearings on the Riverway. The hearings will be conducted at 9:30 a. m. in the Supreme Court Chambers of the Dutchess County Court House in Poughkeepsie. They had been scheduled for July 12 but were changed when a special "suspension" of rules was set for that date in the House of Representatives, necessitating the presence of the members in Washington. The subcommittee, headed by Ralph Rivers, D. Alaska, will arrive in Poughkeepsie following a cruise of the Hudson River on Sunday afternoon. They will then tour the Vanderbilt Mansion and the Roosevelt Home and Library. On Sunday evening the group will be the guests of Congressman Resnick and Congressman James Scheuer, at a buffet and reception at the Scheuer home in Hopewell Junction.

Congressman Resnick stated that the hearings will be open to the public and that persons wishing to present arguments, statements or evidence to the subcommittee should contact his district office, Poughkeepsie, in order to be scheduled.

Congressman Resnick also arranged with the Department of Agriculture for a "fly-over" of the Shawangunk Mountain region to survey the damage caused by the infestation of gypsy moths.

A Dept. of Agriculture expert and a department movie and still life photographer will accompany the Congressman in a helicopter flight planned for July 11. Newsmen and conservationists will also be invited to make the survey.

The "fly-over" will include forested areas of Ulster and Sullivan Counties which have been marred by the gypsy moths. The moths, which eat the leaves of trees as caterpillars before spinning their cocoons, have left entire sections of the Shawangunk Mountains brown and defoliated.

Car Rates Drop $1 Locally, Rise 2.6 PC in State

Because their traffic safety record is better than in other areas of the state, Kingston and Ulster County motorists will pay $1 less for liability insurance this year than last year.

The premium revision was among those announced today by the State Insurance Department for various state territories.

The basic premium for Kingston will be $91 for liability insurance—the type of coverage required by motorists to comply with the state financial security law. The basic premium for the balance of Ulster County is $92.

The new premium for "safe drivers," which provides for a 10 per cent discount for drivers who have not been involved in accidents or convicted of serious traffic violations, is $81 for basic premiums in Kingston and $89 for the balance of the county.

However, where the city and county were among territories where the losses incurred by insured motorists have gone down, they were in direct contrast to other areas where there were basic premiums increases as high as 2.6 per cent. For instance, Kingston and Highland had an average premium reduction of 1.2 per cent, while Dutchess County, except Poughkeepsie, had a 10.5 per cent increase because of especially large insurance losses.

Behind the rate change, according to insurance groups and the State Department, is the rising cost of paying for more traffic accidents caused by New York State motorists.

For liability insurance—the type of coverage required by motorists to comply with the state financial security law—the rate changes vary by territory. Although some areas received premium increases and some decreases, the average statewide change is a moderate increase of about $4 annually per car.

4 Motor Vehicle Violations, $125 In Fines Imposed

A 38-year-old Orange County man was in the Ulster County jail today in lieu of payment of $125 in fines imposed by Justice of the Peace Abram Smith, Town of Rochester, after the motorist pleaded guilty to four motor vehicle violations.

Ellenville State Troopers J. E. Kelly and R. R. Brooks cited Robert J. White, of Florida, on charges of failure to keep to the right, driving with unsafe tires, operating an unregistered motor vehicle and having no insurance. The charges were made after a car driven by White failed to negotiate a curve on Samsonville Road about 2½ miles west of Route 200, Kerhonkson, at 1 a. m. The vehicle went off the left side of the highway, hit an embankment, veered across the road and came to a stop in a field.

White pleaded guilty to the four violations. He was fined a total of $125. In lieu of payment of the fines, he was committed to the county jail for 55 days by Judge Smith, according to Trooper Brooks.

Temporary Housing Shortage in Area

Numerous recent inquiries received at the Chamber of Commerce office indicate that there is a shortage of temporary housing in the Kingston area.

As a community service, Harry Kaprelian, president of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, announced today the Chamber office would be pleased to list any available temporary housing and give the list to persons who inquire. Those who have available housing of this kind are invited to call the Chamber of Commerce Office (338-5100) and provide a brief description.

Recent inquiries came from families and individuals who are scheduled to be in Kingston from one week to a year and are having difficulty finding a place to rent. The Chamber does not have a license to serve as a broker nor a staff to inspect any housing and make recommendations, but will be pleased, Kaprelian said, to list places and make the list available to those who inquire, as a community service.

White House Much Concerned

Change in Press Secretary Sparks Changing-Image Story

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—A sudden rash of stories in the New York press this week raised some rough, critical questions about President Johnson and Thursday he named a new press secretary.

There was not necessarily any connection between the two events. Johnson picked Bill D. Moyers, 31, as press secretary to succeed George E. Reedy, 48, who gave foot trouble as his reason for leaving.

Quite A Difference

Although both men had worked for Johnson for years, there is quite a difference between them.

Moyers, very bright and personable, is Johnson's top aide and one of his closest friends and advisers. The slow-talking, friendly Reedy never had that close relationship with the President.

This was what was most unusual about the change: While Reedy had long experience as a newsman before going to work for Johnson, Moyers had no real news experience outside his college days.

And, besides, he had a very important White House job preparing programs for Johnson to submit to Congress.

Last Sunday in the New York Herald-Tribune, Douglas Kiker reported that "more and more" stories are filtering out of the White House about Johnson's personality and his relations with others from aides to members of Congress and government officials.

Much Concerned

After listing a number of critical questions about the President, Kiker said: "The White House is tremendously concerned about this growing image." And, as an indication that Johnson is trying to do something about it, Kiker said:

"There have been meetings and talks and decisions made all week long (meaning last week) concerning new public approaches." This was written five days before Moyers' appointment.

Kiker said of Johnson: "His charm is overwhelming frontier charm, and so are his veneers. He demeans his staff; then imposes great trust and confidence in it. The prospects are that a more subtle, gloved hand will be offered by the White House in the time immediately ahead."

Close-up View

Tom Wicker in the New York Times of July 7 reported that Washington "has only one real topic of conversation—the man in the White House. The news out of Washington these days is that Mr. Johnson is irascible, moody, high-handed, peeved at his critics, and generally hard to live with."

And Alan L. Otten in the Wall Street Journal of July 6 said "while the President apparently retains overwhelming popular support across the nation, a small but influential group of people who see him up close are increasingly uneasy, unhappy and uncharitable about him" on several points:

"That the President drives people too hard, is too high-handed and arrogant, doesn't really want argument and independent point of view; that he is too preoccupied with his popular image, is too sensitive to criticism, spends too much time answering attacks he should ignore; that when things go truly wrong, he frequently turns nasty. The President often seems to lack respect for the individual."

LBJ Answer

As soon as any official indicates he is quitting the Johnson team, Otten said, "the President is likely to tell callers that so-and-so was 'really terribly overrated.'"

These three stories came after two other events that caused a lot of comment in Washington. On June 28 Jack Valenti, Johnson's special assistant, made a speech, saying of his boss:

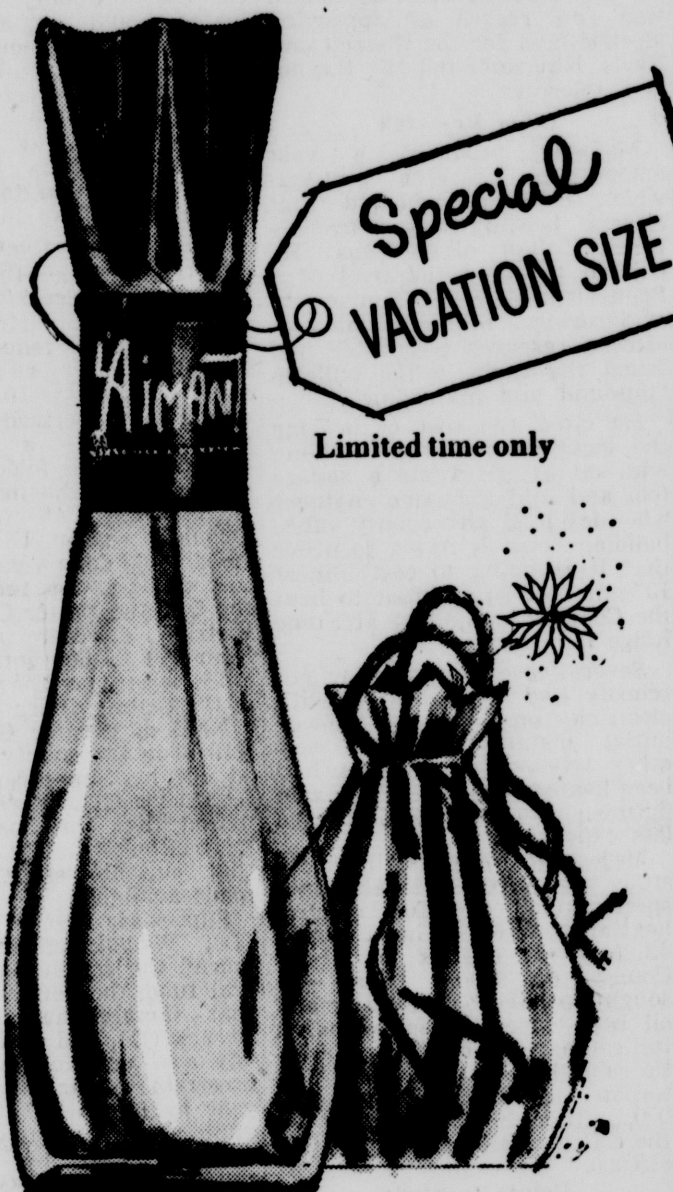

"He is a sensitive man, a cultivated man, a warm-hearted and extra-ordinary man. I sleep each night a little better, a little more confidently because Lyndon Johnson is my President."

Two days later the Washington Post's Herblock, quoting those words from Valenti in a cartoon titled "Happy Days on the Old Plantation," drew three cringing men, stripped to the waist and with whip marks on their backs, bowing to a man disappearing off to the side with a bullwhip. In the back was the White House.

All over Washington that day people asked: "Did you see the Herblock cartoon?"

Wants to Fight Again

Retired Marine Gen. Puller
Critical of Efforts in Viet Nam

EDITOR'S NOTE — Lt. Gen. Lewis B. (Chesley) Puller of the United States Marine Corps, retired since 1955, has always been an outspoken officer and a zealous advocate of American military initiative. He also is the most decorated living Marine, holder of more than 50 military decorations for exceptional service and bravery, and the only man to win five Navy Crosses.

By TOM FENDERGAST

SALUDA, Va. (AP) — At 67, retired Marine Lt. Gen. Lewis B. (Chesley) Puller wants to fight again. He is critical of American military efforts in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic and has requested a combat command.

"I am tired and ashamed to look the tax payers of the United States in the face," he said in a letter to the commandant of the Marine Corps May 14, which he made public for the first time today. He stressed his experience in guerrilla warfare in Haiti and Nicaragua in the 1920s and 1930s, and his combat record in the Pacific in World War II and Korea.

Request Denied

In Washington, Marine Commandant Gen. Wallace M. Greene said Puller's request for reactivation had been denied.

In a letter, Puller May 27, he wrote that "under conditions as they exist today, there is no requirement for the Marine Corps to ask you to come out of retirement for active service."

Green said Puller's request was given "careful consideration" and the Marine Corps was aware of his "unique qualifications." He added, however, "Our Marines are acquiring themselves both in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic, in the manner which is expected of them and of which we may all be proud."

Blunt as Ever

Crazy and blunt as ever, and appearing physically and mentally fit, Puller answered these questions at his Tidewater home here in an interview with The Associated Press.

Q. Are you satisfied with American involvement in the Dominican Republic and Viet Nam?
A. No, definitely not.

We made a bad error in the Dominican Republic by failing to seize stores of arms, ammunition and supplies. By now they're scattered throughout Santo Domingo and in the interior. This means we'll be faced with the possibility of guerrilla warfare there for many years to come. Our Marines apparently got no further than the streets and sidewalks of Santo Domingo; they should have seized all military supplies.

In Viet Nam many things are wrong, and there are only three ways to win the war against the Communists there. First, by a full U.S. Navy blockade of the country which would halt most of the arms shipments from Communist countries. Second, use of helicopters and clusters and lines of fighting units and revert to attack on the Vietnamese sea coasts through use of World War II landing craft. Then, chew up the country by segments by marching regiments back and forth across its narrow boundaries. Third, place a qualified American in command of all forces — including the Vietnamese forces.

Won't Work

Q. Do you oppose the so-called "spreading ink-blot strategy" of using fighting units in clusters?

A. That has been tried a thousand times and it just doesn't work. The first principle of warfare is to concentrate more of our people against the enemy's. In Korea when our troops were in clusters or in long lines from sea to sea the Chinese Communists attacked in columns and chewed our people to pieces. To win we must form our people in columns and head for the Communists and destroy them on contact.

Q. Apparently, general, you also oppose use of helicopters in transporting attack units?

A. That so-called strategy is a lot of nonsense. Helicopters are very vulnerable — I'll even go so far as to say they're "sitting ducks." Anytime you use helicopters for this purpose you're going to have a catastrophe. This has been proved in Viet Nam; just look at our losses this way. Helicopters are useful in only for evacuating wounded and bringing in small supplies of food, rations and ammunition. This is their limit in battle.

Not His Way

Q. Do you approve of the present role of the Marines in Viet Nam?

A. Absolutely not! United States Marines traditionally have been trained as attacking fighting men, not as policemen or night watchmen. Our Marines aren't permitted to attack, and that is the sole purpose of their existence. Why should Marines have to waste their time guarding air bases? Doesn't the Air Force have night watchmen?

Q. What would you do to improve security in Viet Nam, particularly at the air bases?

A. Anyone familiar with military history has only to recall Caesar. He said that before his legions ate or slept at night, they would secure their defenses. If this had been done at the American air bases, we wouldn't have lost millions of dollars in planes and scores of dead and wounded. If these people would ever see — as I have many times — a sentry with his throat cut, there would be fewer successful Viet Cong attacks on the air bases.

Q. Do we need a substantial military success before negotiations in Viet Nam?

A. Yes — defeat of the Viet Cong. In my opinion, our Viet Nam policy had had one mistake: Instead of bombing the Vietnamese jungle we should bomb Hanoi and other major targets.

Q. General, many people say our military policies in Viet Nam are similar to those that caused the French defeat there. Do you agree?

A. That is exactly right. We haven't learned a thing from the French defeat; in fact, we seem to be copying much of the bad tactics of the French. The American commanders should not lose sight of the fact that Ho Chi Minh, the Vietnamese Communist boss, defeated a French army of 400,000 men. He is backed by years of guerrilla warfare experience, and a man successful in that type of war can be successful in any type of war.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—Some of the starch went out of the stock market advance early this afternoon.

The market opened with a continuation of the rally that sent the list to a sharp gain Thursday afternoon. Trading at the outset was active.

But prices began to fade and some gains were turned into losses.

Changes of most key issues were fractional with a few running to a point or so.

Republic Aviation advanced more than a point after announcement that Fairchild-Hiller Corp. had offered $40.4 million for its operating assets.

TWA gained more than 2 points.

Steels, rubbers, aircrafts, electronics, utilities, nonferrous metals, rails, oils, airlines and drugs posted small gains.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was up 1.3 to 323.8 with industrials up 1.4, rails up .6 and utilities up 1.2.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon had risen 1.81 to 873.66 after having been up nearly 3 earlier.

Murder-Kidnap

Tonopah, where Champion had undergone surgery at the Nye County Hospital.

Bartender Jimmy Cook, 52, employee of the Coaldale Inn, faced the gunman when they invaded the business on their route to escape.

"He (one of the fugitives) told me that if anybody moved his buddy would shoot the lady he was holding in the car," Cook said.

The fugitive paid Cook $250 in bills "because, he said, he would probably never live to spend it anyway."

During the 90-mile chase from Tonopah to Benton, the gunman — released only last month from an Oregon prison — talked by radio to officers.

At one point, one of the men discovered a box of ammunition in the captured deputy's car and radioed pursuing officers, "thanks a lot."

In addition to the Champion kidnapping, Boles and Grey are suspected of gunning down Deputy Carlton E. Smith, 33; and kidnapping Mrs. David Corbin, 33, her son, Clinton, 12, and later abducted an Oregon couple and two boys and got away in the trailer camper.

Law enforcement officials could not say whether Bowles and Grey knew who Champion was when they kidnaped him. He is California's highest appointed official in the state.

In addition, if we are to expand the 1966 Pageant, to make it more representative of the Empire State a larger budget will be required."

Other officials also expressed appreciation for the increased public interest and support of the 1965 Miss New York Pageant and were confident that still more people could be involved in staging the 1966 Pageant and that a larger budget could be planned to expand and improve the project.

Police arrested two of the 14 teen-agers. The others were being sought.

The St. Remy Fire Department is celebrating its 35th anniversary by holding the annual firemen's picnic on the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club grounds in St. Remy starting at 9 a. m. July 11.

Recently the firemen and auxiliary were prosperous in their first annual bazaar which was enjoyed by hundreds of residents from the surrounding areas.

Two in Jail . . .

pair and the three men held in Highland were exchanged and they tallied.

Lt. Frank Dunlap, Detective Sergeant Jack Brophy and Detective William Naughton and Richard Shelly went to Highland to question the Brooklyn men, according to Chief Martin.

Meanwhile, a search by State Police of the car owned by one of the Brooklyn men disclosed a wallet, which was later identified by Ben Levy as his. Also found in the car, according to Sergeant Cameron were several identification cards and papers bearing the names of other persons, some residents of New York City.

Police in that city were notified and detectives reportedly were assigned to come to Ulster County to question the trio to determine whether they were connected with unsolved robberies in the metropolitan New York City area.

After Poughkeepsie authorities took statements from the accused men, they obtained first degree robbery warrants from City Judge Milton Haven charging Ketchum and McKinney with the holdup at Levy's store. Jones has not been implicated in last night's robbery.

Chief Martin said Levy had identified Ketchum and McKinney as the men who robbed him at gunpoint. One of the pair reportedly wore a blue mask to cover his face during the holdup.

Sergeant Cameron said that Sergeant Whalen and Detective Naughton went to the State Police Laboratory in Albany this morning. They took with them the .38 caliber revolver found in the Brooklyn men's car, and a .38 caliber bullet which was removed from the neck of John J. Daley, 57, of 374 Mansion Street, Poughkeepsie, after he was wounded in an armed holdup at his grocery store at 88 North Clinton Street, in that city on the night of June 23.

Sergeant Cameron told a reporter authorities wanted ballistics experts to check the gun and bullet to see whether there was any connection with the Daley holdup. Daley told police he was shot as he was closing his store for the night, when two Negroes approached him and demanded money.

Daley said he grappled with the men and a revolver held by one of them discharged and wounded him in the neck. The holdup men escaped with $75.

Questioning of the three Brooklynites will continue later today, with interrogation by State Police BCI investigators. New York detectives and Poughkeepsie police.

P. O. Worker Advised
On Fine Inheritance

Q. "I have just inherited 150 shares General Motors, 324 Kroger; 300 Parke, Davis; 75 Woolworth. I have a steady job in the post office paying $90 a week and I will get a pension. I have ample cash reserves. Would you advise me to sell part of the Kroger and Parke, Davis stock and invest in other good growth stocks?"
C. J.

A. I am very much pleased to hear from someone in your position who has received so fine a legacy. Kroger — third largest food chain — after experiencing competitive pressure for some years, is now definitely on the upgrade. Earnings were at a record last year which I feel will be well surpassed in 1965. The shares have held up very well near their all-time high during the recent decline, and I would hold.

Parke, Davis is a fine, old pharmaceutical but, in my opinion, is too heavily dependent on chloromycetin — its major product — on which its basic patent expires next year. I would switch all this stock into equal dollar amounts of Merck & Company and Northern Illinois Gas.

Q. "I'm 62-years-old, retired, and sick of sitting around the house. The stock market has always been my hobby and I think that I am going to start trading actively so as to give me something to think about each day. Even if I do lose a little, the action might do me a lot of good. Money is no problem and I'm not afraid to take a few losses along the way. Do you have any suggestions to make?"
L. M.

A. Yes I advise you to be extremely careful because you've picked a field where mistakes can be very costly. Normally, I would be strongly against the idea of non-professionals trading actively, but if this is the kind of therapy which will do you the most good, take a small amount of capital and go ahead.

Electric Heat Voted Again for . . .

Supervisor George Majestic (D), Gardiner, sought to have the board reconsider action at the last meeting when the board went on record as approving electric heat for the Ulster County Parts, Kingston, and Mr. Haynes is a salesman.

Majestic produced a vast amount of research material which he said indicated that electric heating was more expensive than oil or gas. He pointed to the withdrawal of a Pennsylvania State University engineering research bulletin after a research committee had found the facts in the bulletin "unsound and misleading."

He cited the cost of heating the local county office building with oil at 2 1/2 cents a square foot and said the same engineer who designed the county office building "now is trying to prove that it is going to cost almost 10 cents per square foot to heat the County College at Stone Ridge if oil is used."

Several cases were cited where schools had been heated with electricity on the basis of lower initial installation costs and other schools in the area had been heated by oil. Majestic said figures showed that oil heat was less expensive.

Majestic's resolution to re-study the matter, seek alternate specifications, one for electric heat and one for oil heat, named 42 fuel oil dealers in Ulster County on whose behalf he sought to have both electric and oil heat specifications prepared for comparison of costs. Majestic said the cost of securing alternate bids would be about $2,000, although the trustees of the college estimated the cost at $55,000.

Points to Study

Supervisor Roy Webber (R), Marlborough, chairman of Community College Committee, stated that the matter had been gone into very thoroughly by the board of trustees of the college, a thorough study made in consultation with the architects and engineers and the trustees had recommended electric heat. He estimated the cost of alternate plans to be $25,000 and said to have alternate plans drawn would further delay the completion of the college. He said in view of the facts and the recommendations of the college trustees the board should abide by the trustees decision and there should be no further delay in preparation of plans and specifications.

Majestic countered with a statement that oil heat was cleaner than electricity and would require less custodian costs.

Two Abstain

On the vote to seek alternate specifications Chairman Robert F. Phinney (R), 11th ward, and Charles Relyea (R), Hurley, abstained and the Majestic resolution to seek alternate cost bid was defeated by a vote of 19 to 9.

On the vote Minority Leader John C. Quimby (D), Marlboro, said he was "disturbed" over the matter and realized that Majestic had gone to great trouble to get the facts he presented, but he would follow the recommendation of the trustees and vote "no."

Majority Leader James Rapp (R), first ward, also said he had little knowledge on heating but since the trustees had "evaluated" the problem and recommended electricity, he would vote for electric heat in order to prevent further delay in completion of plans for the college.

Clarence C. Raiche, (R), 12th ward chairman of the Industrial Development Committee, reported both that committee and the Planning Board Committee had come to the conclusion that the Ulster County Fire Coordinator should not, at this time, be appointed a member of the County Planning Board. The matter had been referred to the committee at the last meeting by resolution of Supervisor Joseph Martorana (R), Plattekill. A resolution to that effect was carried 17 to 14.

Report for the Publicity Committee, Supervisor Raiche, said that committee had received over 50 requests for information on report accommodations since May 10. These requests are processed by help at Central Hudson, at no cost to the county, and folders are sent out to those who make inquiry.

He reported that over the July 4 holiday season, Ulster County resorts had done a good business. A request was received from the Soil and Water Conservation District director asking for from 500 to 600 square feet of office space on the sixth floor of the County Office Building.

Need of greater Gypsy Moth control in the county was pointed out by Supervisor Franklin S. Kelder (R), Rochester. He moved that the board request more extensive state control and that suitable state funds be made available.

Supervisor George M. Barthel (D), Wawarsing moved to amend the resolution that Federal funds be sought. He said that Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick (D), had arranged for a "fly-over" on Sunday, July 11, to ascertain the damage done this year by moths in the Shawangunk area. He suggested that Federal funds be sought to further control of Gypsy moth and cited the hundreds of acres of the county which have been stripped of foliage by the infestation of Gypsy moths.

The resolution of Supervisor Kelder, as amended, was unanimously carried.

On motion of Supervisor Ralph Bush (R), Shandaken, Lloyd Greer of Walker Valley was named sportsman representative on the Region 8 Fish and Wildlife Management Board and William Meyer of St. Remy alternate.

William Tacorchich's term as a member of the Forest Practice Board expires July 24 and, on motion of Supervisor Harold W. Denning, Charles Weidner of West Shober was appointed successor on recommendation of the Division of Lands and Forests of the New York State Conservation Department for a three year term from July 24, 1965.

The Two-way Radio Committee, James Rapp, chairman, reported that a complaint from Kathy Coughlin expressing dissatisfaction with working conditions at the Communications Center at the T. B. Hospital, should be investigated.

Second Member Of British Train Robbery Escapes

LONDON (AP) — British police pressed a manhunt today for the second member of the great train robbery gang to escape from prison.

The escape of Ronald Arthur Biggs and three other convicts Thursday from London's Wandsworth Prison threatened to set off a major political row. Members of Parliament were expected to demand a thorough overhaul of prison security. London morning papers called for drastic changes.

Biggs, 35, was serving 30 years for his part in the August 1963 ambush of a mail train in which $7.2 million in currency was stolen. It was the biggest haul in British history.

The three men who escaped with Biggs had been jailed for other crimes.

Another 30-year man from the train robbery gang, Charles Wilson, was sprung from jail in Birmingham 11 months ago by accomplices who broke into the jail. He has not been seen since.

Both Biggs and Wilson escaped from maximum security prisons.

Ten of the train robbers are still in prison, five of them for 30 years. Three others named by police as members of the gang have not been caught.

More than $5.6 million of the loot has not been recovered.

Opens Business With Small Loan Grant of $19,500

CHICAGO (AP) — Running a restaurant is harder work than running a customized taxi, says Lawrence Young "but it's worth it because you make even more friends."

Young, 56, opened a carry-out restaurant July 1 with the help of President Johnson, who prompted the Small Business Administration to grant him a $19,500 loan.

"Business has been wonderful, much better than we expected," Young said. "It's really kept me running."

Already he misses his taxi. "But that's the way with all ex-cab drivers," said Young, a Negro.

The restaurant, he said, will be customized as was the taxi.

"The same red carpet that was in my cab is in the waiting area of the restaurant," he said.

The carpet, a telephone, framed pictures, cigarettes, newspapers and umbrella service were part of Young's effort to give his customers extra comfort and service.

They so impressed A. L. Tunick, a member of the National Advisory Board of the SBA, that when Young told him of his desire to operate a restaurant, Tunick suggested he apply for a small business loan.

After applying, Young mentioned the matter in a letter to President Johnson. The SBA gave Young a check for $19,500 June 9.

Young's loan was the first granted by the SBA's midwestern area office to the operator of a franchised small business under the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964. An aim of the act is to encourage minority group members to open their own businesses.

"I liked meeting people and serving people as a cab driver," he said, "and I'm going to be able to do both in the restaurant business."

"Business has been awfully good today," he said. He glanced at the cash register and smiled.

Court of Appeals Ponders Action On Federal Order

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Court of Appeals pondered today whether it would contest a Federal District Court order and halt preparations for a special legislative election this November.

The hassle is a rerun of earlier rulings handed down by the two courts.

The federal court has ordered that the election be held under a plan ruled unconstitutional by the Court of Appeals.

The latest test came before the court Thursday. An injunction to halt preparations for the election was granted Tuesday in State Supreme Court, but the Appellate Division reversed the Supreme Court's ruling Wednesday.

A three-member Federal Court in New York City has ruled that the election be held under a Republican-drawn reapportionment plan, known as Plan A. That plan was enacted during a special session of the Legislature last December.

The injunction was granted Tuesday by Albany Supreme Court Justice Russell G. Hunt at the request of State Sen. Frank J. Glinski, D-Buffalo, and William F. Keenan, a West Seneca voter.

Hunt granted the injunction, he said, so it could be determined whether it was possible to stop the election under Plan A, or whether the supremacy clause of the U.S. Constitution prevents state courts from halting the election.

Through their attorney, Robert B. Fleming, Glinski and Keenan asked the court to draft a new reapportionment plan or appoint a referee to do so.

Representatives of the attorney general's office argued Thursday that the federal court's order should be the final word on the matter.

Feeling Mutual

There'll Be No Martin-Lewis Reunion—Ever

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Dean Martin will do 31 television shows this season with 142 guests — but not Jerry Lewis. Not even for a million dollars.

Martin says that both TV and movie producers have bid the big money for the reunion of the famed comedy team, which split up with bitter words in 1956.

"I like Jerry," says Dean. "I even kiss him when we run into each other, but I don't like the things he said about me."

The feeling is mutual on Jerry's part.

When the two split, the team was one of the funniest and most successful in show business history. It was a $4 million a year corporation.

Now, nine years later, each does considerably better than that on his own.

People often wonder why the two broke up.

Dean sums it up: "Jerry's work is his life. My life is golf."

To Dean, work is a hobby. He tapes his TV series in two hours after playing 18 holes of golf.

"These guys who take a week to do a half-hour TV show gotta be crazy," says Dean. Dean's first show took four hours but he fixed that.

"I cut out the dress rehearsal."

Dean's got other things to do. "I make three movies a year, do 15 weeks at the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas, cut a dozen or so albums and make 25 single

Issues New ID Cards

Because several cases of forgery were reported, Dutchess County Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan has issued new pink identification cards to 318 youths to replace white ID cards. The new cards bear the sheriff's seal and a photograph of the owner, and will be more difficult to duplicate. The white cards became invalid a week ago. The cards are issued in cooperation with the Dutchess County Restaurant and Liquor Dealers Association.

records a year. And they say Dean Martin doesn't work."

That's because Dean does most of his preparation on the golf course. He plays with a script.

"I hit a four wood, take the paper out of my pocket, look at it and then memorize my lines while I'm walking to the next hole."

Dean, always looking for shortcuts, believes people in the Los Angeles area waste too much time driving in heavy traffic.

"The other night Jeannie and I wanted to go to the Hollywood Bowl."

"I put her on the back of my motorcycle and we made it there in 15 minutes, just weaving in and out of traffic."

"The traffic was heavy, too. Jeannie said 'I know it's heavy because so many cars are rubbing my knuckles.'"

"We parked the cycle back of the hot dog stand and got home in 15 minutes. It's crazy to spend two hours driving a car." Dino recently made his first hole in one. He had promised his foursome that he would buy them dinner.

"They want dinner — in Japan. It seems they're crazy about the rice over there."

"All I said was:

Show me a filter that delivers the taste and I'll eat my hat."

CAKE AND MEAD HOUSE—Visitors to the 16th Annual Pennsylvania Dutch Folk Festival are treated to saffron cake at the Cake and Mead House operated by the Goschenhoppen Historical Society of Montgomery County in Pennsylvania. Mead is a drink made with honey, yeast, spices and allowed to ferment. Other foods featured at the fair were the seven-sweets and seven-sours, lemon-strip pies, funny cakes, raisin tarts and five-layer cakes. The traditional shooflies had either wet or dry bottoms. The Kutztown, Pa., Gay Dutch are always amazed that "outlanders" find the food so tempting. It is food eaten by them all the time and considered "just for so."

Nazzi, Semmler, Kroll, Marcault Are In Program at Maverick

Woodstock flutist Christiane Nazzi with Alexander Semmler at the piano will give a concert-lecture on the "Evolution of the Flute" Saturday.

Sunday afternoon one of the favorite musicians of the audiences of Maverick Concerts, William Kroll, returns to the sylvan music hall with another Woodstocker, Jacqueline Marcault, at the piano. Madame Marcault was the pianist whom Pablo Casals chose to accompany him when he gave his first farewell concert in 1946.

With William Kroll she will play works by Mozart, Debussy and Beethoven. "Fritz" Kroll always arouses an atmosphere of anticipation and excitement in devoted audiences. For upwards of twenty years Kroll has been in the very first rank of chamber musicians in America. The Saturday Review said: "To hear Kroll is an event of major importance."

The New York Times hailed him as "a musician of penetrating insight."

Alexander Semmler, composer, conductor and a fine pianist, received most of his musical education in Germany, studying piano with Joseph Bembauer, composition with Brahms' only composition pupil Gustav Jenner. He has toured the United States extensively as concert pianist, was a member of CBS Symphony Orchestra for a number of years and became CBS staff-conductor in 1939. As free lance composer-conductor he has been featured on all major radio and television networks since 1942.

In 1951-52, by special invitation of the U. S. State Dept., he became the American administrator of the music department of RIAS in Berlin, conducting the RIAS Symphony Orchestra on numerous occasions. He conducted concerts, radio programs and lectures, and organized the Centro de Compositores Mexicanos in Mexico City in 1953-54.

Beside composing for radio, television and concert, Semmler has composed-conducted many moving picture scores.

His compositions include works for orchestra, chamber solo instruments, chorus, solo voice and the theatre. Since 1955 he has been musical director of the Maverick Concerts in Woodstock.

Christiane Nazzi began her musical education in New York City studying under her father, Michel Nazzi who was for several years soloist with the New York Philharmonic. As a scholarship student she studied flute in New York City and later abroad where she toured in recitals and was heard over European networks.

In 1956-57 she was solo flutist to the famous singer Lily Pons, accompanying her on her southern tour. Miss Nazzi was also a member of the Indianapolis Symphony and Buffalo Philharmonic and has appeared as soloist with several orchestras in the U. S. and Canada.

She returned to New York this summer after completing a tour through Mexico.

Old Craftsmen Revive Customs of 1776 At Pennsylvania Dutch Folk Festival

By DOROTHY A. NAREL
Freeman Society Editor

It was homelike lore, superstitions, traditional farm and craft practices and cookery for several Ulster County residents at the 16th Annual Pennsylvania Dutch Folk Festival in Kutztown, Pa., this week. Taking in the festival highlights were Mrs. George Berk of Hurley; Mrs. Hollis Burhans of Pearl Street, Kingston; Mrs. Charles J. Tiano of Woodstock, her daughter Nina, and the author with her daughters Amelia and Barbara.

Capacity crowds have been attending the festival which opened July 3rd and closes tomorrow. All the towns people and the "outlanders" roamed over the 35-acre grounds watching old craftsmen revive customs typical of the days of 1776 and today.

Before the gates close Saturday night, an estimated 150,000 visitors are expected to take in the festival's many phases of Pennsylvania Dutch folklife. One didn't find a carnival-type atmosphere in Kutztown. Balloons were absent, there were no honky-tonk rides or other cheap attractions. Edna Eby Heller, a Kutztown resident, said that Dutch cookery held her informal "seminars" at the food booth, the Heidelberg Polka Band organized by the Kutztown State College youth provided lively square dancing music, and Brad Smoker's pageant explained the life and background of the Amish people.

If you had the stomach for it, you could watch pigs and hogs being butchered in the new slaughter house or spend a great deal of time, as we did, in the herb booth speaking with a "Gay Dutchman" about the uses of herbs in that part of the country.

The Ulster County residents also saw Paul Brumbach drive up and down along the Commons in his ancient hearse, watched the Pennsylvania Dutch women boil soap, make apple butter, and shred sauerkraut. In small tents the "Gay" Dutch demonstrated bee-lore, snake-lore, moon-lore while all visitors listened and learned about old beliefs and customs of the Pennsylvania Dutch.

Certain aspects of the Festival reminded us of our own County Fair, particularly the homecrafts, and the larger Dutchess County Fair.

"Hex Signs" used by the "Gay" Dutch, Amish and Mennonite farmers were on view as well as gay quilts, braided rugs and household items all handmade not as a hobby, but as a daily routine practiced by these friendly people.

The objective of the Festival is to establish a Folklife Center and it seems they are well on their way.

Patricia Hassett, Dennis Smith Are Wed In Double Ring Rites at Rosendale Church

The double ring wedding of Miss Patricia Margaret Hassett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hassett of Route 4, Box 288 J, Kingston, and Dennis Edward Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Smith of Box 65, Cottekill was held 3 p. m. Sunday, June 20, at St. Peter's Church, Rosendale.

The Rev. Joseph Irwin officiated. Wedding selections were presented by Miss Nan Goldrick, organist and Mrs. Frank Sass, soloist. White gladioli decorated the church and white satin bows marked the pews for the occasion.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white linen with lace summer-bell and chapel length train trimmed with lace flowers. Her triple tiered veil was of silk tulle and she carried a white missal with a white orchid and flowers.

Miss Judith Liggan of Hurley was maid of honor. She wore a gown of yellow peau de soie with contrasting yellow lace cummerbund and matching bow headpiece. The flowers were blue snapdragons and yellow daisies arranged in a fireside basket with blue ribbon.

Other bridal attendants were Mrs. Kathleen Simmons of Kingston and Miss Jeanne Smith of Cottekill, sister of the bridegroom. They wore blue peau de soie gowns, matching bow headpieces and carried fireside baskets of yellow snapdragons and blue daisies with yellow ribbons. The bridegroom's brother, Wayne R. Smith of Cottekill, was best man. Ushers were David Sheeley of Cottekill, Alden Simons of Kingston, a cousin of the bridegroom. Ring bearer was Kenneth Hassett, brother of the bride.

The SRS Home, Cottekill was the scene of the reception for 143 guests.

For a wedding trip to Virginia Beach, the bride wore a beige linen ensemble with white accessories and white orchid corsage. The couple are making their home in Stone Ridge.

The bride attended Cathedral High School, New York City and Rondout Valley Central School where she graduated in 1963. She is now employed by Allan L. Hanstein Inc., as a secretary.

A 1962 graduate of Kingston High School, Mr. Smith is employed at Kingston Savings Bank as a teller. He is a part-time student at Ulster County Community College.

The controlled dome skirt had a detachable train. Her bouffant veil of silk illusion was held by a silk organza rose leaf trimmed with Alencon lace, pearl and crystal. She carried white roses and Stephanotis spray on a white tulle train.

Maid of honor was the bride's sister, Patricia Lee Jordan of St. Petersburg, Fla. She wore a floor-length gown of white tulle lace over white tulle with a taupe neckline, short sleeves and controlled skirt with organza bow at the front waist. Her headpiece was a white tulle Dior bow with back veil. She carried a spray of American beauty roses.

Bundled-Up Look Is Introduced by American Designers

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
A.P. Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — You'd think that heating houses was going out of style, the way fashion designers plan to bundle up women this fall.

Mannequins with pretty faces and well-tuned legs had little chance to show off these assets, so covered were they as they paraded past fashion writers Thursday during the second day of fall previews called the American Designer Series.

Misses who wore boots at the Anne Fogarty show reappeared at the Pauline Trigere performance in spats to match their fuzzy tweed suits.

Under their cutaway jackets they wore jersey blouses with attached hoods that nearly concealed their faces. Even the sheaths in which they appeared later came with foot-high collars called cachecous, meaning neckhiders, although they hid much of the head as well.

After scurrying in and out in a flurry of styles including raincoats as full as umbrellas and tunic-like escort coats over skinny princess dresses, the models returned coddled in opulent furs.

Little white mink suits, broad-tail evening gowns, chic ermine boleros worn backwards or forwards, and different kinds of scarves, all five yards long, and sometimes studded with jewels, were in the lineup of hot and high-priced fashions for fall.

On the other hand, Lilly Dache calculated to make herself the heroine of husbands by introducing heat-producing furs at bargain prices. She gave prestige to the pauper pelts — particularly squirrel, muskrat and rabbit — with a good dye job and some chic styling.

Bread Making Marks Most Popular Aspect Of 4-H Medal Plan

Young 4-H cooks are taking a new look at an old art: bread making. The tantalizing aroma of freshly baked bread has never lost its appeal, they find, and homemade bread is still a special kind of treat.

At least that is what more than a half-million 4-H Club members believe who participate in the National 4-H Bread program sponsored by Standard Brands. As a matter of fact, last year's enrollment of nearly 516,000 tends to prove that learning to bake bread appeals to more 4-H girls than ever before.

During the last two years enrollment nationally increased about 133,000, according to the Cooperative Extension Service which supervises the program.

Several different projects can be undertaken in this program. Besides learning how to bake, the girls (and boys, too) learn why yeast causes the dough to rise; why specific oven temperatures must be used; why warm water (105-115 degrees F.) instead of hot or cold is needed to dissolve yeast; why it's necessary to "knead" dough.

Another feature 4-Hers like about the bread program is that it gives them a chance to show how good they really are. Besides demonstrating baking skills, they can compete for county, state and national awards provided annually by Standard Brands.

Before the year is over a total of about 5,300 achievement medals will be awarded in virtually every state. In addition the girl or boy completing the best project in the state will be a delegate to the National 4-H Club Congress as a guest of the program sponsor.

From the entire group of state award winners, six young people will be carefully selected to receive a $500 scholarship. This year, for the first time, these 4-H scholarships can be applied to college or university, be used for vocational school, special short courses or similar educational study.

CACCIATORE COOKOUT FOR 9,000 GIRL SCOUTS—Warm sunshine, chilly nights and a full schedule of outdoor activities will strengthen the appetites of 9,000 Girl Scouts who will be assembled in the beautiful Idaho wilderness July 15-28. The occasion will be the 1965 Girl Scout Senior Round-up at Farragut, Idaho, 50 miles east of Spokane, Wash. Meals (500,000 of them) will be cooked over 1,000 charcoal grills. Convenience foods will save many hours of preparation.

Chicken cacciatore (which will require 2,000 cans of tomato soup), and other international dishes will be featured on the menus. Above Gail Wiesner, 17, of Wantagh, N. Y., and Jayne Nelson, 17, of Hicksville, N. Y., are preparing this epicurean Italian specialty for their troop.

Seeger, PP&M Head July 23 Folk Night At Newport Festival

The Friday night concerts have been the high points of the two previous Newport Folk Festivals, and this year's July 23 program, headlined by Pete Seeger and Peter, Paul and Mary, seems certain to continue the tradition. Folk fans will long remember Bob Dylan's electrifying performance at the '63 Festival, and the way Johnny Cash and Joan Baez captured last year's Friday evening audience.

This year's program includes Mississippi John Hurt, the beloved "discovery" of the 1963 Folk Festival who has gone on to become the most popular "authentic" performer in folk music; and Sam and Kirk McGee and Arthur Smith, stars of the Grand Ole Opry for over 35 years, whose concerts for the Newport Foundation last winter were enthusiastically received by Boston, New York and Philadelphia audiences.

Rhythm and Blues star Memphis Slim, who recorded successfully in the 1940's, gained immense popularity with folk and jazz club audiences in the 1950's, and has become synonymous with "the blues" in Europe, has returned to the U. S. to join his old friend and partner, Willie Dixon.

The music of the Negro south will be well represented by the powerful rhythms of the Moving Star Hall Gospel group from South Carolina. Ed Young's Southern Fife and Drum Corps from Mississippi, and Doc Reese's Worksong Group from Texas. The music of Roscoe Holcomb, the legendary guitar and banjo player from Kentucky, and Larry Older, a fiddler from New York State, will please the old-time music fans. Scots Gaelic singers from Cape Breton and ballad singers from Newfoundland will present the unique music of our Northern neighbors.

Bride's Thank-You Notes

Q: When writing thank-you notes, is it necessary to mention the actual wedding gift, or could one simply say, "Thank you for the lovely gift?"

A: "Thank you for the lovely gift" is too vague. It implies that the bride has not taken the trouble to keep record of (and does not care) who sent which gift. To show proper appreciation, she must mention the gift each person sent, such as, "Thank you for the lovely lamp," or "the beautiful silver tray," etc.

Eating A Hamburger

Q: When eating a hamburger served on a bun, is it permissible to pick the whole thing up in the hand, or should it be cut in half before eating?

A: If you can manage it easily, it would be quite all right to pick the whole thing up in your hand.

Paltz Planetarium Offers Free Programs

The Planetarium at State University College, New Paltz, will offer thirty free public showings this summer to young people and adults of the Hudson Valley area. Dr. John R. Kirk, acting director of the Planetarium, announced today. Both daytime and evening showings will be presented.

Two one hour programs, "A Trip Into Outer Space" and "Rhythms of the Solar System," will be featured each week in the air-conditioned dome, the only facility of its kind between New York City and the State University College at Plattsburgh.

The Planetarium offers viewers the opportunity to explore the known geography of outer space to depths of more than a million light years and to study Solar System patterns over a period of several centuries. A multi-lensed instrument projects realistic images of the sun, moon, planets, and naked-eye stars of both the northern and southern hemispheres against the roof of the darkened dome and permits the spectator to follow their course throughout the day and year.

Tickets for individuals and groups may be obtained at no cost at the College Bookstore for admission only to a specific showing. Groups of not more than 55 persons and not fewer than 25 may request special showings on Fridays from July 9 to August 20. Group reservations for daytime showings on listed dates may be made through the Division of Science and Mathematics Office of the College.

Nighttime showings will be held each Tuesday and Wednesday at eight o'clock from July 6 through 24. Daytime showings will be held Mondays and Wednesdays at a time to be announced each week in order to provide the most convenient times for larger student groups in the area. Monday daytime showings for July 12 will be at 10:00 a. m.; Wednesday daytime showings for July 7 and 14 will be at 2:00 p. m.

Doors will open fifteen minutes before each showing and lectures will begin promptly. Further information may be obtained from the Division of Science and Mathematics, State University College, New Paltz, Telephone 256-2531, Ext. 460.

School Board Answers Queries On Building Plan

NEW PALTZ — The New Paltz Central School Board reports that since the defeat of the school bond proposal there have been a number of suggestions by well meaning people as to what changes the board should make in their plans.

Some feel that the new building should be constructed where village water and sewage are available. These two facilities would most certainly be a premium consideration in choosing a site, however, they cannot be a determining factor and must be considered along with many other desirable features in making a final choice, the board said.

Some feel that with a school outside of the village transportation costs will be greatly increased. While there may be a small additional number of pupils who have to be transported the increase will not be great since the school is already transporting approximately 80 per cent of the student population and even with a new high school out of town the village children in grades 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8 would still be walking to the present school building.

The report of the board is as follows:

"It is unrealistic to believe that by building adjacent to the present building it would eliminate the need for additional physical education facilities and playfields. The present gymnasium is already inadequate and no matter where additional facilities are built they will need to include more physical education areas. To build on the present site would only use up more of the already inadequate playground and parking areas. Furthermore to build adjacent to the present building by acquiring more land would require condemnation of high price real estate and would not really cost greatly more than a similar amount of land elsewhere but would take these valuable properties off of the tax rolls.

"The statement that a school adjacent to the present building would be more convenient to parents and pupils during school and for after school activities might be true for a few but it is a fact that even now very few parents walk to these events.

"Other facts that should be kept in mind are that regardless of where we build, additional cafeteria seating space will be needed, since our present cafeteria seating space is already overtaxed. The school system is already operating a fleet of busses by contract at the present time. The majority of which are being garaged and serviced by our present contractor.

"To build adjacent to the present building, unless at least 35-50 acres of additional land are acquired, would solve our problems for only a short time. In the very near future we would find ourselves in the same predicament that we are now but committed to a long range plan that would be very difficult to change.

The board of education is currently evaluating its school building program and as definite plans are developed the public will be advised.

Lions Club Plans Glaucoma Clinic

The New Paltz Lions Club in cooperation with Medical Associates will sponsor a free clinic at the Medical Associates Building Saturday, July 17, from 2 to 4 p. m.

All residents of the Town of New Paltz over the age of 35 should avail themselves of the opportunity to have their eyes examined for any trace of glaucoma. The examination will be performed by Dr. Robert Taylor of Medical Associates and he will be assisted by other professional personnel and registered nurses.

An examination for glaucoma is completely painless and only involves placing drops in the eyes and measuring pressure on the eyeball with a tonometer.

This is the first clinic of this type to be held in New Paltz, and those over 35 are urged to avail themselves of the opportunity of this examination. Early treatment of glaucoma cases will result in the disease being arrested; however, undetected cases of glaucoma may result in more serious sight problems.

The program is being undertaken by the Lions Club as an activity under their Sight Conservation Program.

Dates for the special events are baseball trips, July 22 and Aug. 4; other trips, July 27 and Aug. 11; teen dances, July 15 and 29; dogless pet show, July 14; dog show, Aug. 3.

Daily activities are held at the Central School Monday through Friday from 9 a. m. to 12 noon and 1 p. m. to 4 p. m. Closing day of the program will be Aug. 13.

Dirksen Revises Apport Proposal Against Filibuster

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen has again revised his legislative reapportionment proposal in an effort to satisfy Senate opponents who have threatened to filibuster it to death.

As revised, Dirksen's proposed constitutional amendment would provide for alternate plans to be submitted to voters on the question of reapportioning state legislatures.

His new version would provide that alternate plans be submitted to the voters: 1. To take into account population, geography or political subdivisions as factors in apportionment; 2. An apportionment plan based on substantial equality in population in line with the supreme court ruling.

BABSON on BUSINESS

By ROGER W. BABSON

FURTHER ADVICE ON MAKING WILLS AND CODICILS

BABSON PARK, Mass., July 9—As we pointed out last week in this column, it is thoughtful and unfair for any person, whether of moderate or extensive means, to put off making a will. Much pain and confusion can beset one's heirs and family in case of death, if one's estate is not clearly allocated. Death—whether we like it or not—is one of the inevitable facts of life. And in this day of 70 mph speed limits on the highway and the feverish pace of every-day existence, sudden and unexpected death strikes too often.

Review Your Will Regularly
Have your lawyer draw up your will with one carbon. The original should be signed, sealed, and placed in your safe deposit box for safekeeping. Your duplicate copy may best be kept in an easily available place so that you may review its contents periodically. It should, of course not be signed.

Most people should read over their wills at least once a year. If your holdings increase, you will undoubtedly wish to raise the provisions for your church and perhaps some of your favorite charities. Also, you may find there are surprising changes in estate assets; and, too, you may wish to make changes in potential beneficiaries. This is another important reason why you should make periodic revision of your will a significant part of your estate planning.

Amend Via Codicils

Choose your own executor, rather than have some judge appoint an executor who will almost certainly have less genuine interest in your affairs. He may be chosen in the original will or in the last codicil. But even your executor need not know what his business after your death.

If there is a major change to be made in your will it will be better to have your lawyer draw a new will and destroy your present will. If, however, your present will is quite complete as it is written by you, it may be better to let it stand as it is and have your lawyer draw a codicil covering what you wish added or altered.

Provide for All Contingencies

When making a will, you can leave your executor certain powers of choice, especially if there is property to be sold or other complicated matters to take care of. Court liquidation could mean disposal of property without sufficient time for proper appraisal. It could also mean selling during a depression or in some period of local dislocation.

Therefore, the judgment of a friendly executor may well save your estate thousands of dollars. A will also enables you to give personal effects to whomever you wish.

During the time of settlement your wife and children could be without funds for ordinary living expenses. Through a will or a codicil you can give your executor the power to pay out to your wife and/or children so much per month until final settlement is made. In case of illness or other emergencies, extra outlays may be made possible at the discretion of your executor.

Don't Forget Trusts

Do not forget, too, that court disbursement of your estate could involve advertising for heirs and the appearance on a scene of unknown claimants you would not want as beneficiaries.

Your own executor can make certain that your enumerated heirs get what you want them to have, particularly if he has the authority to divide property, investments, and other assets at their fair evaluation without going through the long process of reducing everything to cash before final distribution. By will, you can leave money in trust if you desire—so that your wife, brother or sister, or any chosen beneficiary can receive the income for life, and subsequent disposition can be made of the property in any way you may wish.

Above all, remember: A regular ritual of reviewing your will—perhaps on your birthday—could prevent the misfortune of "not getting around to" changes you really want to make.

Stormy Weather Breaks Out in Various Sectors

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

More rain fell in sections of the Midwest and Southeast today after another outbreak of stormy weather in many areas.

In the Midwest, tornadoes, heavy rain and strong winds hit areas in the Dakotas, Minnesota, Montana, Iowa, Wisconsin and Illinois. Heavy rain doused sections of Georgia, Alabama and Florida.

In Savannah, Ga., three children were electrocuted during a heavy rainstorm when one of them tried to open a gate on a wire fence electrified by a broken 4,000-volt power line. The other two children apparently were killed as they ran into their stricken playmate.

Tornadoes swept areas near Green Bay and Lake Winnebago, Wis., Grand Forks, N.D., and in Carver County near Minneapolis. Funnel clouds were sighted in areas in Minnesota, South Dakota and Montana and near Fort Myers, Fla., and Nashville, Tenn.

Three persons were injured in the tornado and severe storms which battered suburban areas of Minneapolis.

Another Bad Blow For Premier Moro

ROME (AP)—Premier Aldo Moro's shaky center-left coalition was dealt a new blow today when Parliament decided to take up a charge of abuse of office against a former Cabinet minister.

Parliament will determine in joint session whether the charge against Sen. Giuseppe Trabucchi, a Christian Democrat, should be dropped or sent to a constitutional court.

The Socialist coalition partners of Moro's Christian Democrats joined non-government parties, including the Communists and Fascists, in submitting 479 signatures of members asking Parliament to deal with the case. The required total was 477.

Dirksen Back in Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen is back in the hospital for stomach pains he describes as "excruciating."

The 69-year-old Illinois senator re-entered Walter Reed Hospital Thursday for a recurrence of what the hospital described as "abdominal discomfort."

Dirksen had been discharged from the hospital only last Monday after treatment for similar pains.

Time to Buy: Advice

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former chief White House economist Walter Heller says European confidence in the U.S. dollar has never been higher, and that Americans are getting good value for their money.

"This is a superb time to buy," Heller advised U.S. consumers.

Just back from Europe, Heller was at the White House Thursday to report to President Johnson on his findings.

'West Point of Politics'

It is becoming ever more painfully evident that altogether too many Americans of good will harbor the belief that "going into politics is bad for young people."

Since it seems that the courses in political science available at our private colleges have failed to drive that "bogey man" out of political life, why don't we investigate possibilities that exist for a "West Point of Politics" under Federal jurisdiction. Here, perhaps, satisfactory human material could acquire the West Point inspiration for "Duty-Honor-Country." We all concede that the "cold war" may endure for a century. Yet we do nothing about the fact that having less than the finest of our young people in the field of politics can only contribute adversely to the hazards of our country's future.

It is conceded that private military academies don't quite accomplish what is molded at "The Point." We cannot, with human nature being what it is, expect political science courses at private colleges to accomplish with our young people what a "West Point of Politics" could perhaps mold and bring into being. Again, with human nature being what it is, the elite amongst our university professors who specialize in political science may well compete with one another to become members of the faculty of such a "West Point of Politics."

When a successful industrialist discovers that good human material possesses prejudice against employment in a vital segment of his plant, he adopts practical measures to eliminate the difficulty. Why should this be handled differently in government?

Of what use can tomorrow's weapons be in the hands of the military should we remain content that discredited and useless notions of a century ago remain in the minds and hearts of our people in politics?

The late Congressman Will Rogers said: "the only really successful hosts and hostesses are those with sense enough to welcome a new idea." May God grant that Will's wisdom will ever remain a part of our "Americana."

Yours very truly,
MANUEL DITTENHEIMER

ITS VALUE IS UNQUESTIONABLE

The 'MGB' sets a new pace in sports car design. Its forerunner—the universally acclaimed 'MGA 1600'—created a record unique in sports car history, being the first to reach a production figure of over 100,000. The 'MGB' transcends its well-proven predecessor in every way. It is designed to do so. It has more power; more vivid acceleration; more brisk performance through the gears—all making for more safety. It also has more room, more comfort, a superior ride and greater refinement.

These pace-setting advances over the 'MGA' are an impressive indication of the unequalled value in the 'MGB'.

Report on Observations In Red China Traveling

Editor's Note — The writer is a correspondent for the Southam Newspapers of Canada. His dispatches from China, distributed by The Associated Press, have been appearing in this newspaper.

By CHARLES LYNCH

CANTON, China (AP) — Notes from a correspondent winding up a two-month assignment in China:

Near Canton, we passed peasants on treadmills, pumping water into the rice paddies. In another place, they were doing the job with dippers attached to long poles.

Everywhere there were the cargo rickshaws that degrade their haulers, even though the guide tries to persuade me they are a big improvement on the old carrying-poles, which incidentally are still very much in evidence.

I suppose a man, or a woman, should feel it is progress when he is relieved of a 100-pound load on a pole and told that from now on he will drag a 500-pound load in a rickshaw.

Peasant Class

The largest commune of many I visited, contained 12,300 households and 51,780 individuals, with a laboring force of 19,600.

Communes sound harsh when you put them down on paper, but the sight of so many people working so hard in a common cause, and to such obvious effect, is not something to be dismissed in a world where rural lethargy or the flight to the cities is the scourge of underdeveloped countries.

The communes of Red China are far more stimulating than her cities or her factories, and for sheer ingenuity and energy they mark the Chinese peasant as being in a class by himself.

Dishes to Relish

The restaurants of Canton are fabulous, both in setting and cuisine, offering such goodies as stewed fish livers, braised big fish head with bean-curd, stewed boneless duck-webs with mushrooms, scrambled fresh milk, double-boiled sea-dog fish with chicken-feet, big skirt shark's fin, crab-fat juicy meat dumplings.

I saw watersnakes on sale at market on the Pearl River waterfront, and being bought with relish. It was whispered to me that another local delicacy is cat, and they have a dish mixing snake and cat, called the "fight between the dragon and the tiger."

Still Waiting

In the midst of my tour of China I was routed out of bed in Hankow to answer an urgent request from the Foreign Office. What was wanted was a list of questions for a proposed high-level interview, presumably with Premier Chou En-lai or Foreign Minister Chen Yi.

The questions were dispatched. I am still waiting.

Cubans Mail Their Packages From Canada

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (AP) — New York-area Cubans, hindered by U.S. postal regulations in efforts to ship food, clothing and medicine to friends, relatives in Cuba, have turned to Canada.

The Cubans make an eight-hour drive from New York, cross the Rainbow Bridge into Niagara Falls and mail their packages, report postal authorities here.

U.S. postal rules, due to an American embargo against Communist-ruled Cuba, allow only medicine to be mailed to the Caribbean Island nation.

But the Cubans learned that Canadian postal authorities would allow non-perishable food and clothing to be mailed to Cuba. And although the items cannot be mailed in America, U.S. customs regulations allow the Cubans to take them into Canada for mailing.

The derivation of words, particularly strange-sounding ones, fascinates many people. For example, from where does the word "cad-die" come? The term, which describes a messenger boy or one who carries golf clubs, is derived from "cadet," meaning younger son, through the Scots' form "caddee." The same is true of the origin of the word "cad," an ill-bred person.

Ban Against Red Speakers Causes N. C. Controversy

By ROB WOOD

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A law banning Communist speakers has entangled North Carolina in a web of controversy, spreading from the legislative chambers to the university campuses to the church pulpits.

The law, passed in the fading hours of the 1963 legislative session without debate or a public hearing, prohibits Communists or anyone who pleaded the Fifth Amendment during a loyalty hearing to speak on the campuses of state-supported schools.

University officials have argued the law violates academic freedom and puts politicians in charge of educational matters.

Ministers have urged repeal. The Southern Association of Schools and Colleges has warned the law could mean loss of accreditation for those state-supported institutions of higher learning.

The legislature refused to consider repeal or amendment this session.

The matter now rests with a nine-member commission, to be appointed by the governor, the Senate president, the House speaker.

The commission is to study the issue, particularly the accreditation of the colleges and universities. A report is expected by November.

Gov. Dan K. Moore has promised to call a special legislative session should the commission suggest changes or repeal of the law.

North Carolina became the only state with such a law when the measure cleared both the Senate and House in less than 30 minutes.

When the legislature returned in 1965 for its session, the demand for repeal or amendment became a roar.

This time opponents pointed to the loss of accreditation as the deepest fault of the law.

The 120 members of the North Carolina House stood 2-to-1 against repeal. The 50-member Senate was almost evenly divided.

Moore told newsmen, "I have received hundreds and hundreds of letters from North Carolina citizens. They favor the law by a 6-1 margin."

The governor suggested the study commission "as the only possible solution to this controversy."

While the commission investigates, the debate continues.

Head-on Collisions

BAY CITY, Mich. (AP) — Last year John McKay and Lewis Seward, both 8 years old, were doing exercises together. "I was going up when he was going down," Lewis said. John broke his tooth in the collision. Lewis got a cut head. This year, Lewis bumped his head on the same spot. The injury swelled and doctors X-rayed. They found John's broken tooth embedded beneath the scalp.

Seminarians Are As Independent As Campus Rebels

By JERE MOORE JR.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) —

"The same challenges of old yardsticks" that brought revolts to college campuses are going on among students for the ministry, says the Rev. Dr. Duke McCall, president of Southern Baptist Seminary.

It hasn't shown in the same ways as on other campuses, says Dr. McCall, but seminary students "are no longer willing to swallow dogmatic statements. They no longer come in saying, 'I am a young theologian, teach me what Baptists think.'"

The student questions any definite statement a professor makes, he said, because "the old answers have not solved all the problems and asks isn't there a better answer."

Dr. McCall, president of the oldest and second largest of six Southern Baptist seminaries, said this has forced a revision in the way sources are taught.

Idealists

Seminary students want to change the world and are impatient with present progress, he said in an interview.

"If I make some small contribution to move the world a little bit closer to the ideal of peace on earth, I will be satisfied," he said. "The student wants to see all armies disbanded in his lifetime. He wants to solve labor-management problems his first Sunday in the pulpit. He is frustrated by differences of vested interest."

Dr. McCall attributed a drop in enrollment at seminaries to the fact that "channels of change are cluttered." Many in the Peace Corps are seminary graduates, he said, and many more will be entering social work with the increase in federal welfare programs.

Religion Is Key

These may provide the best short term answers, Dr. McCall said, "but in the long term, the answers are religious answers because you change the basic attitudes of a community and this takes a long time, some miracle work and the grace of God."

Students no longer enter the ministry to escape worldly problems, he said. "The civil rights movement has taken care of this. They move to the eye of a hurricane that can tear a community apart."

"They are more likely to ask, 'Is this the place I am most likely to get involved or can I be more effective as a politician or social worker?'"

"We thought the church provided the answer. The young theologian is not sure the institutional church is the answer. He is frustrated by the differences in the ideal church and the actual church, between what we preach and what we practice."

Drivers Under 18 Barred in N. Y. C. And Nassau Co.

Warning to New York State residents planning to visit the New York World's Fair.

Drivers under 18 are banned from the New York City area and Nassau County.

A spokesman for The Travelers Insurance Companies' Albany office said today that New York law prohibits residents under 18 from operating a motor vehicle in the New York City area and Nassau County even if they hold valid licenses in other areas of the state.

And being with a parent or licensed driver over 18 still doesn't help the teenage motorist, the spokesman said. The law is strictly enforced, he added.

Hyde Park Town Hall Proposal Rejected

Voters in the Town of Hyde Park on Thursday rejected a $245,000 proposal which would have provided funds for construction of a new town hall to replace a building destroyed by fire several months ago. The vote was 533-204. The total cost of the new building had been estimated at $295,000, including $50,000 insurance from the fire.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the byproducts of the recent hullabaloo in the stock market is still with us, signs of an increasing conflict between the easy and tight money advocates.

Should the United States keep prosperity rolling by making credit abundant at low interest rates? Or should it heed past examples of overconfidence and nip a possible speculative boom to stave off a bust?

One of the reasons apparently behind the selling wave on Wall Street was fear that the Federal Reserve Board would further tighten up on credit and interest rates. And all the talk brought out the difference in opinion between Johnson administration leaders who want easy money and the Federal Reserve Board which traditionally is more cautious.

Tighter Controls Legislation on Motorcycle Folk

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York State will set tighter controls on its fast-growing corps of motorcycle drivers beginning Oct. 1.

From that date on, new drivers wanting to operate motorcycles will have to qualify for a special license. They will be given driving tests on motorcycles.

By Oct. 1, 1968, all persons wishing to drive those vehicles will have to have the special license.

The new requirements were established under a bill signed by Gov. Rockefeller.

It was among several measures on which his decisions were announced today. The governor signed the bills last week before leaving with Mrs. Rockefeller for his ranch in Venezuela. They will return next week.

In other pre-vacation action, the governor vetoed a bill under which the Friday before a public holiday would have been observed as the holiday.

The governor said the bill's deficiencies included a failure to specify whether the affected Saturday would have remained a holiday.

At present, a person holding a regular driver's license may also operate a motorcycle.

The Federal Reserve Board has tightened the money supply a little of late. But credit is still easy — as witness the steep rise in personal and business debts.

The debate is the perennial one: Are people getting in over their heads? Would a marked slackening in the business pace and in job opportunities, and hence in personal incomes, topple many family budgets and bring on general distress?

The administration and the board seem agreed on one thing — at the moment the economy is strong and the credit burden thus doesn't seem dangerous.

The conflict, as Wall Street sees it, is over the chance future: Will the economy continue to expand? And at what pace?

Steady and moderate gains would seem to offer only minor problems and many wished for benefits. But a big expansion, if based on still easier credit and still greater accumulation of personal and business debts, might lead to an overheating of the economy with an inevitable downturn ahead. And then, say the conservatives, look out for trouble among those who have piled their debts too high.

Defenders of the spread of the habit of fashioning family budgets to the ratio of monthly payments to expected income point to the fact that personal savings have risen along with personal debts.

But the conservatives warn against generalizations. They say that many who have increased their savings may have little or no debt. And many who have taken on more installment debts may have little if any savings.

It's the latter who would be hurt if something happened to jobs and incomes.

The easy money school argues that the best way to assure more people of having jobs and good incomes is to make credit easy enough for business to borrow to expand its activities — and for consumers to borrow to buy the goods that increased industrial activity will offer.

And that is one of the things that stock traders were worrying about: Will business go on expanding? Will employment continue to increase? Will a conflict between easy credit and tight money advocates develop and add still another uncertainty to the economic outlook.

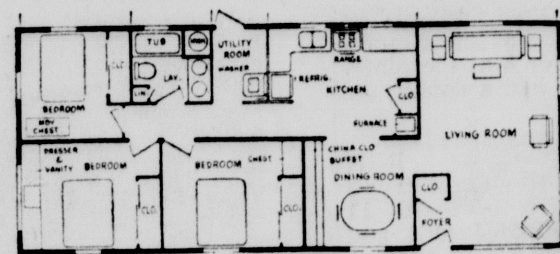

Many are betting on the administration to win and credit to stay fairly plentiful and cheap. But some look for the Federal Reserve Board to get more worried about the size of consumer and business debts and what might happen if the economic expansion plans didn't pan out as expected.

Braves Name Bach Starter Against Paterson Phillies Kingston Nationals in Babe Ruth Tourney Finals

RON RUTA

ED BAUER

Top Collegians Set to Oppose 17-Year-Old Ace

Manager Dick Bartsch of the Kingston Braves has nominated the obvious choice—Brian Bach—to start against the powerful Paterson Phillies Saturday night at Dietz Stadium. Game time is 8:15 p. m.

Bach, 17-year-old Kingston High school ace, is fresh off a brilliant 18-strikeout performance in the American Legion opener Wednesday. And two weeks ago he permitted only 3 hits and fanned 12 in 8 innings against the Waterbury All Stars.

Opposing Bach will be either of two 1965 collegians—Bruce Aitken of Florida Southern or Charlie Linfante of Fairleigh-Dickinson of New Jersey. Aitken led the nation's college pitchers with a 0.53 earned run average this year.

No Lineup Changes

Manager Bartsch said he planned no changes in the lineup that dropped the opener to Waterbury in 10 innings, 4 to 3. This would mean an infield quartet of Len Whitten, 1b; Paul Giannuzzi, 2b; Roy Leonetti, 3b; and Boots Butkins at shortstop. Paul Gruner, Paul Natale and Vince Smedes will be in the outfield, with Dick Bartsch Jr. catching.

The Phillies, North Jersey champions in 1961-62-63, and Bergen County winners in 1960-61, are handled by Bob Potts of Fair Lawn, N. J. They are also under the tutelage of Ben Marmo, chief Philadelphia Phillies scout in the area.

Sent Many to Majors

Over the years, the Phillies have sent several players up to the majors, including Larry Doby, Danny O'Connell, Carl (Butch) Sawatski, Joe Cunningham, the Los Angeles Dodgers' relief ace, Don Peronowski, and John Briggs, currently with the Phillies.

The probable starting lineup for the Phillies follows: Ken Juall, 2b; Michael's of Vermont. Ed Cuerreri, ss, Ohio Wesleyan. Bob Proffitt, cf, Ferrum College, Virginia.

Ken Kraynak, 1b, Cleveland Indians farm system. Ron Ruta, c, Indians' farm system. George Geiger, 3b, Syracuse University.

Ed Bauer, rf, New York Yankees farm system. Chuck Fournier, lf, Giants farm system. Aitken or Linfante, p.

Van Steenberg Due at Lebanon Valley

Lebanon Valley Speedway is anticipating the return of veteran Saugerties stock car ace, Stretch Van Steenberg, for its Saturday night program.

Van Steenberg is a former champion at Lebanon. High point drivers expected in the field include Karl Hautesel of Cohoes; Ed Delmolino, Sheffield, and Rup Bailey of Poughkeepsie. Racing starts at 8 p. m.

MRS. ARTHUR (MERRILL) SMITH

259 Is New Solo High

Merrill Smith's 624 New Woodstock Mark

A Mt. Tremper housewife, the mother of four school age children, has cradled the "600 triple" barrier two straight times, while setting the all-time Woodstock Lanes record for women in the process.

Mrs. Arthur (Merrill) Smith set two Woodstock records with a 259 solo and 624 series. Her other games in the record set were 198 and 167.

The next time out after her 624 effort, Mrs. Smith rolled 604.

Career First 600

Mrs. Smith's 624, a career-first, shattered the old mark of 610 rolled by Ann Manfro of Kingston. Woodstock Lanes at attendants were not sure but estimated Mrs. Manfro's score at "about 610." She was not available for comment.

The 259-624 tandem eclipsed for personal highs of 236 and 594 for Mrs. Smith.

A five-year bowler, Mrs. Smith started bowling in 1960, developed at Woodstock since the lanes opened a few years ago. She has excellent form, temperament and a good working ball. Her husband, Arthur Smith, is well known in fireman circles in the Town of Woodstock.

Did Mrs. Smith have any reaction to her record breaking effort? "I'll have to say it was a wonderful thrill," she said.

Crackers Blanked Forty Two Innings

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Atlanta Crackers have broken an international league record for consecutive scoreless innings that had stood for nearly 40 years.

Atlanta had not scored for 42 innings until they tallied two runs in the fourth inning against Jacksonville Thursday. The string of scoreless innings broke the league record of 33 set by Jersey City in 1927 when Buffalo shut them out in consecutive doubleheaders 4-0, 3-0, 4-0 and 1-0.

Hudson, Catskill To Play Today In Semi-Finals

Kingston Nationals advanced to the finals of the sectional Babe Ruth tournament but the Kingston Americans were jolted in last night's action at Dietz Stadium.

While the Nationals were nipping Rondout Valley, 3-1, the Americans lost a 9-4 decision to Catskill. Hudson won the other contest, beating Saugerties, 11-1.

Catskill will meet Hudson at 5:30 this afternoon in a semi-final game. The winner will play Kingston Nationals at 2 p. m. Saturday for the lower district championship.

Rios Wins

Gregg Rios survived a rocky start to hurl the Kingston Nationals to their decision. Rios gave up a first inning run and then outdueled Gary Heinitz the rest of the way.

Aside from the second frame, Heinitz was tough. A hit by Mike Weishaupt, a fielders choice and a wild pitch gave the locals all the runs they needed.

Andy Murphy was plagued by errors and was the losing hurler for the Kingston Americans. Two misplays, a single and double netted Catskill three runs in the opening session.

In the second, one run scored on a wild pitch and another on an error. An error and a fielders choice gave Catskill two runs more in the fourth and a triple and wild pitch completed the scoring in the fifth.

Murphy knocked in a Kingston run in the first and Charlie Moore's single and a double by Ken Gilligan scored two more in the second. The final marker came on a passed ball.

Big Second Inning

Hudson used a seven-run second inning to demolish Saugerties. The big hit was a bases loaded single by Rusty Race. Errors by the losers also figured in the big inning.

Winner Tom Lewicki allowed only six hits.

Major League Leaders

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO

Freeman Sports Editor

They passed out the scorecards in the third inning at the 1965 inaugural of the Kingston Braves at Dietz Stadium. By that time the ancient cry "You can't tell the players without a scorecard" had been rendered academic.

At this point, you couldn't tell the scorecard because of the dust swirling around the stadium.

Which brings up another observation: So long as the hired help is going to call the shots at Dietz stadium, and it's been going on for a long time, the promoters are left to the mercy of persons making decisions they have no right to make.

We don't know whose idea it was not to sprinkle the diamond for the Braves opener. We trust the shabby performance is not repeated for Saturday night's game with the Patterson Phillies.

● Flotsam and Jetsam:

We will always remember two things about Kingston Day at Shea Stadium — the incredible paper barrage on a cold, windy day, a disgrace for a major league ballpark and the sign carried by two youngsters: "Don't save water, save the Mets" . . . Incidentally, those two local characters who predicted the Old Timers Association wouldn't get 200 or 300 for the Kingston Day must be laughing at the other side of their face. And these were responsible men allegedly with the best interests of Kingston at heart. . . . Willie Mosconi, recalls Art Judice's statement at Spade's Billiard Lounge, "Willie is the greatest." With all due respect to current champion Joe Balsis, Luther Lassister, Jimmy Moore and others, the dapper Philadelphia still ranks with Ralph Greenleaf as the two greatest.

● Of Men and Mice:

The Kingston Jaycees have engineered many worthwhile promotions over the years. But their recent conduct of the area Jaycees golf qualifying tournament was one of their least distinguished adventures. . . . The Glasco-East Kingston Little League is now reduced to one player from East Kingston, my hometown and once a hotbed of baseball. The Little League diamond in the brickyard hamlet is barely visible under the weeds. Whatever happened to baseball in East Kingston? . . . John G. Garon of Kingston may earn a trip for Scotland for two and $1,000 in the national Old Smuggler Hole-in-One Sweepstakes. He recently bagged an ace at John Gaucas' Van Schaick Country Club in Cohasset, Maine. If the dust persists and the lights get any dingier at Dietz Stadium, you won't be able to see the scoreboard, which isn't there, anyway.

● Titillation or Obfuscation:

It was funnier than Gil MacDougald's testimony before a boxing inquiry in Albany a year ago—it's more dangerous to face a fastball pitcher than be in the ring with the world's heavyweight champion. We refer to Cus D'Amato's statement before the House Commerce Committee on Wednesday: "The people watching on closed circuit didn't see the blow. (The phantom which rendered Sonny Liston hors de combat). . . . They thought it was what we call a tank job."

In the same hearing, Nat Fleischer, the venerable boxing encyclopedia, thoroughly fumed after the Lewiston, Maine thing, rose before Chairman Oren Harris and colleagues and in high dudgeon proclaimed, "I never saw such a confused affair." Believe me, Nat, that is the understatement of the century.

Concord Foils Touring Pros

None of the touring professionals matched the par 72 figure of the new 7,205-yard Concord golf course where the 54-hole Concord Invitational got under way today. The event at Lake Kiamiesha ends Sunday.

Tied at one-over-par 73's were pros Dick Mayer, Randy Glover and Dick Crawford. Those with 74 included Bruce Cramp-ton of Australia, former U.S. champion Tommy Bolt and Jim Ferree.

Gene Sarazen of Germantown, who won his first U.S. Open crown more than 40 years ago, came through with a 40-37-77. Bolt, who has played golf for 35 years, said: "It is one of the most beautiful courses I have ever seen. In my opinion, a National Open could be held right here now without any doctoring."

Graham Captures Slot Race, New Local Sports Feature

Stevie Graham, 10-year-old hot rod from New York City, was winner of the 1/24 scale "slot car" feature race at Kingston Miniature Raceway this week.

Loren Dewey of California captured the 1/32 scale feature and Ronnie Marchuk turned in the fastest time of the night—7.7 seconds—in taking the 1/24 main event.

Dewey and Marchuk are tied for the best driver of the season trophy with 21 points each. The Miniature Raceway which opened in late May at the Knight Archery Lanes on Albany Avenue Extension in Kingston is the first center of its type in the area.

Fast Growing Sport
"Slot car racing" as it is known is one of the fastest growing hobby-sports in the country. Unknown in the United States six years ago, it boomed to success on the west coast and has since grown into an international competitive sport.

The cars are 1/24, 1/25 or 1/32 scale models of real cars, mostly sports or racing cars. The actual sizes are approximately five to six inches long and about two inches high. Cars may be purchased in kit form or may be individually designed. The custom car is assembled from a wide assortment of precision engineered parts.

The tracks that they race on vary from small, two-lane tracks for home use, to the large commercial types that are right lanes and 250 feet for one lap. The Kingston Miniature track is a winding six-lane track with each lane about 100 feet long.

Gets Name from Slot
The tracks have a groove or "slot" for each lane which accounts for the name of that type of racing. A guide or "flag" on the front of the car protrudes into and rides along the slot thus directing the car around the track. A metal conductor is located on either side of the slot to provide electricity to the tiny electric motor in the car.

Each "driver" determines the speed of his own car by a manual control unit. Contrary to thought, slot racing is not a "kid's" hobby. More than 50 per cent of the slot car enthusiasts in the country are over 21 years old. Women, too, are providing a challenge to the male drivers. Races are held each Wednesday night at 7 p. m. at the raceway. Prizes and trophies are awarded to the winning drivers.

International Now Wide Open

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The International League pennant race, which once looked like an Atlanta runaway, has become wide open.

After Thursday's games, fourth place Jacksonville had moved to within 5 1/2 games of league-leading Columbus and the possibility of a battle royal for first place emerged.

Toledo topped Columbus 7-3, Jacksonville whipped Atlanta 5-3, Rochester edged Syracuse 4-3 and Toronto defeated hapless Buffalo 2-0 and 8-1 in a double-header.

Atlanta, held scoreless for 42 consecutive innings, finally scored twice in the fourth against Jacksonville, only to have the Suns tally three in the fifth and two in the sixth to win.

Manny Jimenez's two-run ninth inning homer gave Rochester its third consecutive victory and a sweep of the series at Syracuse. Syracuse gained a 3-0 lead in the second inning and held it until Rochester scored single runs in the sixth and seventh innings.

Bill Haas' 10th home run of the season was the only thing which averted a double shutout for last place Buffalo. Toronto pitchers Jack Lamabe and Guido Grilli combined in the first game to inflict the 12th shutout of the season on the Bisons.

7th $100,000 Roosevelt Race

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — The seventh $100,000 International Trot will be raced Saturday night over 1 1/4 miles at Roosevelt Raceway. That's for sure. But whether there'll be a record performance depends on Speedy Scot, the American representative, defending champion and 1-5 favorite.

A poll today of the drivers of the seven other starters from six nations fail to disclose a single one willing to admit his horse has enough speed to take the track away from the Castle-ton Farm's 5-year-old son of Speedster.

Ralph Baldwin drove Speedy Scot to victory in 2:32.3-5 last year in matching Su Mac Lad's stake record. The swift Speedy also holds the world record of 2:31.2-5. He has won 43 of his 54 starts and each of 11 defeats can be traced to the colt's failure to keep on stride. His bank account totals $633,409.

The consensus was that if Speedy Scot stays on the trot all the way, there'll be no stopping him from picking up the winning share of $50,000.

Lackaye Leads Wrens to Victory

Don Lackaye continued his hefty slugging with two home runs, a double and two singles as the Wrens outslugged the Owls, 17-5, in a Jayvee Little League game.

The winners put the game out of reach with eight runs in the third inning. Catcher Bob Markes had a pair of doubles and two singles while scoring five runs.

Vince Perry, Jim Corsones and Dave Scholier had doubles. Scholier and Perry had two hits each for the Wrens while Nick Scott and Terry Wirth pounded out two singles each for the losers.

Bauer Confident Orioles Can Win

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Hank Bauer, Baltimore manager, says, "I predicted last winter we'd win the pennant and I still say we've got a real good shot because our power hitters are bound to cut loose soon."

Bauer was both happy and frustrated as the Orioles reached the halfway point of the season in third place at 47-34, 4 1/2 games out, after whipping Kansas City 10-6 Thursday to complete a four-game sweep.

He was happy because his club was high in the race, free of injuries except for a pair of sore-arm catchers. His pitching staff, led by possibly the best relief corps in baseball, was going strong.

The big, friendly ex-Marine was frustrated because the club's best hitters with few exceptions just didn't hit the long ball, or for average, in the first half of the season.

A year ago at the mid-point of the season the Orioles were hitting far better but only five games better at 52-29, in first place. At their current pace the

Yanks, Tigers Pee Wee Winners

Yanks nipped the Red Sox, 6-5 and the Tigers outslugged the Cubs, 15-9, in St. Mary's Pee Wee League game.

Rocco Secreto, Don Smith, Dave Naccarato and Tim Mahoney homered in the Yanks-Red Sox game.

Rountrippers in the other tilt were hit by Wayne Brooks, Joe Pugliese, Steve Maddison and Garry Brooks.

Line scores:
Yanks 3 0 0 1 1 1-6 7
Red Sox 0 0 0 3 2 0-5 8

Tigers 7 1 0 0 7-15 13
Cubs 1 4 0 4 0 0-9 18
Paul Maccaline and Steve Maddison; Fran McClosky and Martin Castel.

Orioles will win 94 games. Last year they won 97.

"I'd say we're fortunate to be this high," Bauer said. "If our big men were hitting like last year we'd be seven-eight games in front. Curt Blefary, Jerry Adair, Russ Snyder and Bob Johnson have picked up some slack."

"All I said was:

Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler indicated the voluntary program to trim the U.S. balance of payments deficit is working so well he is worried about overoptimism.

The Federal Reserve announced the greatest weekly outflow of gold in six years, $359 million.

The statements were the latest zig-zags in the government's on-again, off-again enthusiasm about its efforts to preserve the United States' dwindling gold stock.

Basic Answers

Here are some basic questions and answers on the current U.S. gold and balance of payments situations:

Q: What is the status of the U.S. gold stock now?

A: The U.S. monetary gold stock now is worth $13,934,000,000. It has declined $1,454,000,000 since Jan. 1. The outflow in six months of 1965 is exceeded only by the total yearly losses in 1958 and 1960. The present supply of gold is now back to the level it was in 1938 before the nation built up its vast gold pile during World War II.

Q: Why has the gold stock declined?

A: Because the United States has had a balance of payments deficit every year since 1949 (except 1957). A deficit results when the nation spends more overseas than foreign nations spend in the United States. Since we have a deficit, it figures that some other nations will have a surplus. Some foreign governments convert their surplus dollars into gold. The United States guarantees it will buy or sell gold at the fixed price of $35 a troy ounce.

Q: What is the so-called voluntary program and how does it fit into the picture?

A: The program was established by the government in February via "guidelines" to banks and manufacturers. One of the basic features of the program calls on organizations to limit their overseas investments to 105 per cent of their 1964 investment. Foreign investment was one of the biggest single items in the 1964 balance of payments deficit. That deficit provided the vast pool of dollars which some foreign governments are converting into gold this year.

What Is Balance

Q: What is the U.S. balance of payments position now?

A: Despite optimism about the voluntary program, the United States deficit in the first three months of the year was $733 million. The program did not really begin to tell until the second three months. Though statistics presently are not available for the second quarter of 1965, it is believed the balance is showing a surplus. Some economists project the net deficit for 1965 at about $1 billion, or one-third the total deficit for 1964.

Q: Is that good or bad?

A: A little of both. It is good because it shows the voluntary program is working. It is bad because there is still a deficit. The voluntary program is like a first-aid tourniquet — a temporary device that preserves the patient until there can be surgery to repair the injury.

At this stage, the voluntary tourniquet chafes. But the bankers and industrialists who complain about it are unlikely to loosen it until doctor government gives the word.

Treatment Proposed

Q: What kind of permanent treatment has been proposed?

A: That's one of the problems. So far, government and the private sector seem to agree only that there is a problem to be taken care of. No program has been worked out. Treasury Secretary Fowler says the voluntary program must hold tight for at least a year.

Q: What happens next?

A: Probably the United States will lose more of its gold stock, since foreign governments still hold billions of dollars convertible into gold. But some economists feel the gold loss will taper off for three reasons: The voluntary program has limited dollars going overseas; the United States is still the world's number one department store and purchases are made with dollars; and many governments prefer to keep their dollar holdings in dollars or interest-bearing U.S. dollar securities rather than in bullion.

Q: Why is gold so important?

A: Many economists say gold is important only because so many people think it is important. Actually, gold has little useful value. Its value as money is mostly psychological. The mystique surrounding gold is rooted deep in history. But whatever the psychological or historical reasons, gold is readily convertible into currency, goods, or services in almost any part of the world.

Like Barometer

Q: What has that got to do with the U.S. economy?

A: Because of the psychological importance of gold, many individuals and some nations regard the level of gold backing currency as a barometer of the true value of the currency. That view prevails in many European countries, particularly France and Germany, where disastrous inflations in the past have wrecked the economies of the countries. France and Germany in recent years have been the largest buyers of U.S. gold.

Q: Does the U.S. government regard gold highly as a reserve?

A: No. The United States position is that a currency is only as strong as the economy behind it. The government contends that as long as the U.S. economy is strong, the dollar is strong.

Q: What is a sign of world regard for the dollar and what does it show?

A: Possibly the clearest sign of the world attitude is the price of gold in dollars on the London market where prices are bid up or down each day. When confidence in the dollar slips for some reason, the price of gold goes up. When confidence in the dollar is strong, the price hovers near the U.S. fixed price level (plus an 8 1/2 cents an ounce service charge). Currently, the London price of gold has been ranging between $35.09 and $35.11 a troy ounce.

Movie Crash Is Fatal to Veteran Daredevil Mantz

YUMA, Ariz. (AP) — For 35 years, when a plane crash scene was filmed for a Hollywood movie, chances were that a chunky, mustachioed daredevil and aviation entrepreneur named Paul Mantz was at the controls.

Such was the case Thursday when Mantz, 61, was filmed in his final crash — this one accidental and fatal. His body was catapulted 350 feet across the desert sands. And the cameras rolled.

Mantz, who since early talkies had flown dangerous maneuvers in nearly 300 films, was piloting a plane he had fashioned himself. He and veteran stunt man Bobby Ross, 64, were making the flight 17 miles west of here for filming of "Flight of the Phoenix." The plane caught a wheel on a sand dune, cartwheeled and virtually disintegrated. Rose was seriously injured.

Mantz, who included among his close friends such flying greats as the late Amelia Earhart and Gen. Jimmy Doolittle, was referred to as a pilot's pilot.

He took flying lessons when he was 16 and in 1927 joined the Army Air Corps. He rose to rank of lieutenant colonel in World War II.

After the war Mantz won three consecutive Bendix speed race trophies and set several transcontinental speed records.

New Directors Of Health Are Welcomed Here

An informal welcoming reception for Dr. William A. Wecker, new director of the Ulster County Mental Health Center, and Dr. Luigi Pellegrini, director of the newly opened 'Halfway House' in Kingston, was attended by some 50 guests at the summer home of Mrs. Frieda H. Dingee, in Lake Katrine, Wednesday evening.

Among those attending were Dr. Hyman Pleasure, director of Middletown State Hospital, and Dr. Allan M. Miller, New York State Associate Commissioner for Mental Hygiene and in charge of Community Mental Health Services throughout the state.

Mrs. Vincent G. Connelly, president of the Ulster County Association for Mental Health, introduced and warmly welcomed the guests of honor, and spoke with appreciation of the services of Dr. Emeline Place Hayward, who has been acting director of the Ulster County Mental Health Center for the past eight months.

To welcome the newcomers to Kingston were Mayor and Mrs. John J. Schwenk, C. Robert Cousins, chairman of the Ulster County Mental Health Board;

Dr. Edward F. Shea, a member of the same board; Milton Goldstein, director of Gateway Industries, and several of his staff; Stephen Puff, regional director of the State Office of the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation in Poughkeepsie; and Mrs. Frederic W. Holcomb, Sr.; Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb Jr.; Dr. and Mrs. Harry Gold; Dr. and Mrs. Wendell W. Hoover; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ewig; Miss Katherine M. Murphy; Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Ronder and many others. Well represented among the guests was the board of directors of the Ulster County Association for Mental Health.

Staff of the 'Halfway House' attending were Mr. and Mrs. Alfred J. Aeberle, supervising house parents, and Mrs. Phyllis Crawford, social worker. From the Mental Health Center staff were Dr. Emeline Place Hayward, Dr. Herman Lowe, Richard Kelly and Mrs. Bernice Segal.

The delightful company enjoyed getting acquainted and conversation first in Mrs. Dingee's garden overlooking the Esopus Creek with the reflections of the setting sun, and later in the spacious living room. Coffee and punch were graciously served by Mrs. Frederic W. Holcomb Sr. and Mrs. Harry Gold, and all enjoyed the homemade goodies of Frieda Dingee.

The 'Halfway House' at 87 Clinton Avenue in Kingston, opened two weeks ago as a supervised residence which will eventually accommodate 20 or so persons who are being helped to make the adjustment from living at Middletown State Hospital to living and working in the community. Some will be receiving vocational evaluation and training at Gateway Industries in Kingston, and some will hope to find other employment.

This is a relatively new development in the field of rehabilitations, and Kingston is proud to have been selected as the city for the three-year pioneer project supervised by Middletown State Hospital and financed by a federal grant.

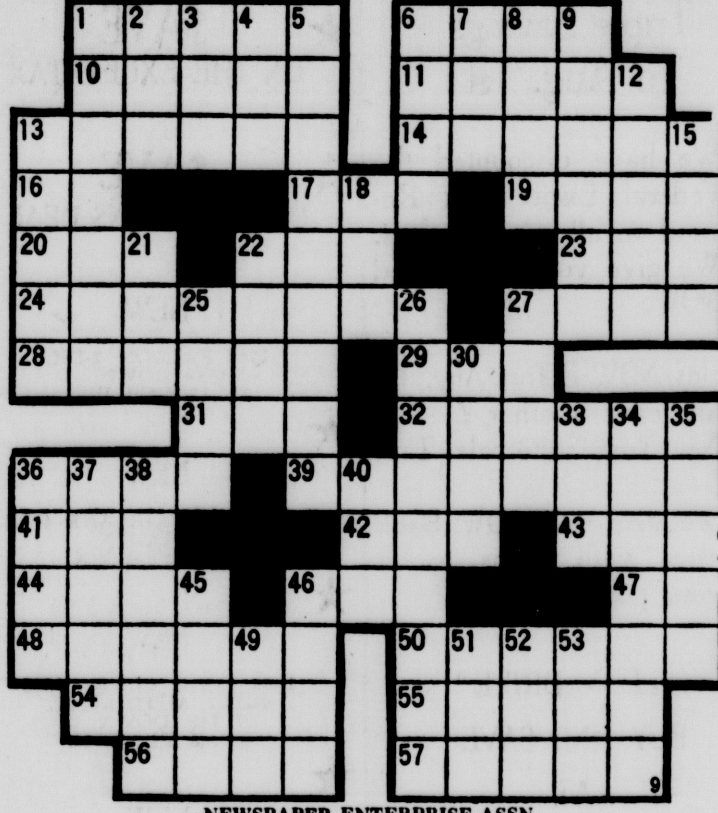

Many of the residents will be people who would have been discharged from the hospital much earlier if they had had a home to which to go. The sheltered residence is the half way step which will enable them eventually to resume independent living and working.

The Ulster County Mental Health Center, located at 400 Broadway, is an out-patient psychiatric treatment center, functioning under the state Community Mental Health Services Act, and established by the Ulster County Board of Supervisors. It is managed by a board of nine members, appointed by the Board of Supervisors. In addition to C. Robert Cousins and Dr. Edward F. Shea, members of this board are: Dr. B. J. Duto, Dr. Elbert C. MacFadden, the Rev. David C. Gaise, the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, Judge Raymond J. Mino, Joseph Fitzsimmons and Peter Williams.

NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Sometime ago Clayton H. Smith loaned me a manuscript covering information he had compiled around 1925 about the Wallkill River. I am just quoting from parts of it: "The Dutch claimed this land that they had gone over in their pursuit as conquered territory. The Indians were none too well pleased with this. In the next year (1664) the Province of New Netherlands (New York) was surrendered to the British. The English changed the name to Kingston after Kingston-on-the-Thames and Baron Hurley of Ireland."

Mr. Smith further writes "One of their first steps was to make a treaty with Indians and pay for the land that the Dutch had claimed by the sword. The treaty belt given by the Indians at this time is still preserved at the Office of the Clerk of Ulster Co. (1925). This is the oldest wampum belt of its kind in existence. In 1677 Governor Edmund Andross gave his approval to the purchase of certain lands from the Indians." I am just wondering where this Indian belt is displayed in the new county office building, as I would like to see it.

I wonder if in those days the government in control arranged for the price of the land with the Indians, or did the seller or owners have something to say. Today such words as "fair market price" are used by those in control, or buyers. The late attorney Henry Klein used to say, the buyers always feel they do not get enough. One did not offer too little to Indians in those days for they were good shots with arrows and could and did burn Kingston.

The land was sold by the Indians to Louis DuBois and his partners, from Mohonk down toward the Hudson River between the Towns of Lloyd and

Jayne Meadows Says:

Keeping Up With Steve Allen Is No Easy Matter

By JAYNE MEADOWS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Being married to Steve Allen is like being married to a posse. He's many different men with different interests, and he seems always to be on the move.

I thought it was difficult keeping pace with him during our courtship, and I can't say that he's slowed down since our marriage. Fortunately, I've learned to run a little faster.

I suppose everyone knows by now Steve Allen the nut, currently on display as "I've Got a Secret" on the CBS television network. But not many are familiar with Steve Allen, the deeply involved human being. Even when he is not doing a show on television, he keeps a staff of eight people churning full time, five days a week, at least, on his activities.

Steve is a prodigious reader and collector of information. He attacks fiction, nonfiction, mass-circulation magazines, quarterlies, pamphlets, newspapers and obscure periodicals that I, frankly, never knew existed before they started arriving at our house.

He keeps a librarian busy cataloging and filing information on the subjects that interest him and pique his curiosity: the war on poverty, mental health, Cuba, China, the bomb, communism, anti-communism, birth control, civil liberties — any subject pertinent to the times in which we find ourselves.

Steve described me once to our friend, Carl Reiner, as "a cross between Spring Byington and Joan of Arc." For my part, the mind boggles at any attempt to describe Steve. There is no one quite like him. If pressed, I imagine I would describe him as a Renaissance man of the 20th-century, which would embarrass him.

Steve is involved seriously in enough careers and projects to exhaust a dozen men. He is a composer and lyricist. He is a pianist. He is a recording artist. He is a student of jazz. He is a comedian writer, a poet, a novelist, a short-story writer, a contributor of articles to large and small magazines.

You'd never guess it to watch Steve working with cuckoos like Don Knotts or Louis Nye or Tim Conway, but Steve is really rather shy. You might call him an introverted extrovert. Or vice versa.

He is a public speaker, a toastmaster and a fighter for causes, and I tag along with him whenever I can.

He is a serious actor. He is a devoted husband and father. The people on his staff say he is a considerate employer. He is active in many charities.

Since marrying Steve, I've become a "night person" like him. We don't go on the town an awful lot, but we're up most nights until maybe 3 a.m. or so, reading, working, listening to music.

fair market value of those times and received it. What is an item worth or its fair market price. At this moment in Viet Nam, a beer can opener is nearly unobtainable or sold for $1 each, yet in the states it can often be given away free by advertisers of beverage products.

Henry Cabot Lodge Is LBJ Choice for Viet Ambassador

By JOHN M. HIGTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has named Republican Henry Cabot Lodge, an outspoken supporter of Johnson's Vietnamese war policies, for a second tour as ambassador to South Viet Nam.

Administration officials insisted that the switch from Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor, who is resigning, to Lodge would mean no change in U.S. policies or major war strategy. Lodge left the Saigon post just a year ago.

Lodge and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara will fly to Saigon next Wednesday for a week-long round of conferences with Taylor and American and Vietnamese officials.

This reassessment of the progress of the war could produce some new ideas, but officials here said the main purpose was to make Lodge fully acquainted with all the problems and personalities involved before he takes over.

Letter to Taylor

The White House announced Thursday Taylor's resignation and the President's selection of Lodge and released a "Dear Max" letter from Johnson to Taylor saying: "We shall miss you, but no man has more fully earned the right to meet his personal obligations."

Taylor, 63, succeeded Lodge in June 1964 when Lodge resigned as ambassador to return to the United States and work for the nomination of Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania as Republican candidate for president. The nomination went to Barry Goldwater.

Johnson drafted Gen. Taylor from the position he then held as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff to succeed Lodge. In his letter accepting the resignation Johnson said he was "bound to honor the understanding we had at the time of your initial appointment," that Taylor would serve in Saigon for about a year.

Served 45 Years

In his letter of resignation, Taylor referred to this agreement. It was understood that he felt an obligation to his wife to return to private life after 45 years of government service. "I shall depart," Taylor wrote the President, "with the feeling that our policy is the right one and will lead to a successful conclusion if we persist with confidence and determination."

Lodge, who was at his Beverly, Mass., home when the announcement was made, said "I am deeply honored by this mark of confidence and shall spare no effort to justify it."

News of the Lodge appointment drew both praise and blame in Congress. Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, called Lodge "a good man" with Saigon experience.

Perplexed by Switch

But Rep. Clement J. Zablocki, D-Wis., of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, called it a "disaster" which might signal a change in the U.S. effort in Viet Nam. House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford said he was "perplexed" by the switch and called for "a clear explanation" whether it meant a change in the U. S. policy of firmness.

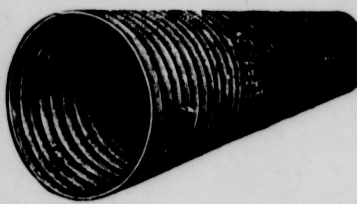

Lodge is 63, a former senator from Massachusetts, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations during the Eisenhower administration, and 1960 Republican vice presidential nominee. The late President John F. Kennedy first sent Lodge as ambassador to Saigon in July 1963. Following his return here last year and his foray into Republican politics, he resumed ties with the Johnson administration on Viet Nam. Last February Johnson appointed him as a consultant on Vietnamese war policy and Lodge traveled around the world to develop support for the U.S.-South Vietnamese cause in other countries.

Administration officials said that Lodge, like Taylor before him, would have overall responsibility for the conduct of U.S. policy in South Viet Nam. They reported that Deputy Ambassador A. Alexis Johnson, a career diplomat, is expected to stay on at least for a while. There was no word of any change in the top military command held by Gen. William C. Westmoreland.

The switch in ambassadors comes at a crucial stage of the war. Both the U.S.-South Vietnamese forces and the Communist Viet Cong are on the offensive. On the diplomatic front North Viet Nam and Red China have rebuffed all peace approaches. In the air war the United States is carrying on extensive strikes against Viet Cong targets in the South and targets in Communist North Viet Nam. Over-all U.S. strategy is aimed at persuading North Viet Nam that the Communists cannot win in the South even with heavy North Vietnamese support.

Lodge is on record as supporting this strategic line.

School Budget Vote on Tuesday At Ellenville

Ellenville taxpayers will go to the polls for a third time on Tuesday, July 13, to vote on a budget proposal for 1965-66. The Ellenville Central School District is operating under an austerity budget.

On June 15, voters defeated a $2,158,917 budget by a vote of 496-469. The budget as revised this week by the Board of Education will be $2,153,792, a decrease of more than $5,000 below the budget submitted to the voters last month.

The first budget ballot, on May 4 rejected a $2,182,929 budget.

If the budget is approved on Tuesday, the tax rate would increase about $5.65 over the current rate of $80.63 per thousand dollars of assessed valuation.

Voting will take place on July 13 from noon to 8 p.m. at the Maple Avenue gymnasium.

Thomson Takes Tourney Lead

By THOMAS A. REEDY

SOUTHPORT, England (AP) — Steady Peter Thomson of Australia, shooting for his fifth title, rifled a one-under-par 72 through blustery wind and rain Friday and shot into a one-stroke lead with one round to play in the British Open Golf Championship.

The veteran Aussie, refusing to be shaken by the trying conditions of the Royal Birkdale course, hung up a 54-hole score of 214, five under par, for a single shot edge over defending champion Tony Lema and Bruce Devlin of Australia, both of whom shot 75s for 215.

Another stroke back at 216 came Arnold Palmer, still in strong contention after a scattershot 75, which tied him with Christy O'Connor of Ireland and long-hitting Roberto de Vicenzo of Argentina.

O'Connor shot a 74 and de Vicenzo, who three times has finished third in this ancient event, fired a 73.

77 for Nicklaus

The strong pre-tournament favorite, Jack Nicklaus, faded to a 77, despite a surging eagle-birdie finish, for 221 which left him seven shots back of the pace-setting Thomson.

Gary Player of South Africa, recent winner of the U.S. Open in a playoff with Kel Nagle of Australia, skied to a 79 and then abruptly withdrew from the tournament.

"I couldn't go on," Player said, explaining that his sore neck, suffered Thursday, prevented him from taking a full swing.

The 44-year-old Nagle was still in contention at 217, tied with Brian Hugggett of Wales, Lionel Platts of England, and Sebastian Miguel of Spain.

The only other U.S. contender to survive the cut, 26-year-old Terry Dill of Muleshoe, Tex., saw his hopes disappear with a 79 for 226.

The 7,037-yard, par 73 Royal Birkdale course proved a tough test.

The 210 - pound Nicklaus seemed ready to blow himself right out of the tournament until he collected himself on the final two holes. He hit a five-iron to the green and sank a four-foot putt for an eagle at the 17th and came out of a trap for an eight-foot birdie putt on the final hole.

Brother Marries

CLINTON, N.Y. (AP) — Douglas G. Benedict, 26, brother of recently married heiress Gamble Benedict, was married Thursday night in Clinton, N.Y., to Sammy J. Downing of Fort Worth, Tex.

Mrs. Benedict, also 26 and a former airline stewardess, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh B. Downing of Fort Worth.

Governor Altar Boy
WINCHESTER, Mass. (AP) — Massachusetts Gov. John A. Volpe began his day Thursday by serving as an altar boy at a memorial Mass in Winchester's St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, his home parish.

The governor was among the parishioners and when no altar boy showed up he took the duty himself.

Reports Neck Injury

Bernadette Ambrose, 24, of 120 TenBroeck Avenue, reported a neck injury after a car-truck mishap at Wurts and Abeel streets reported at 5:32 p. m. Thursday. She was treated at the Benedictine Hospital. Police said the car she drove had been stopped for a traffic light and it was struck in the rear by a truck, owned by Kenneth Becker, of Lexington, and driven by Donald W. Lane, 17, of Prattville. The police report said the truck skidded due to its weight when brakes were applied. Officer Edward Ortlieb investigated.

Consumers Paying

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Ohio congressman says he fears that businessmen will pass along to consumers only about $1 billion of the recent $1.7-billion federal excise tax cut.

Democratic Rep. Charles A. Vanik said his survey of retail prices in Cleveland and Washington showed practically no benefit of the tax cut to consumers on a number of items, including phonograph records, radios, clocks, sporting goods and small home appliances.

Busy in Texas

STONEWALL, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, who stayed at the LBJ Ranch when the President returned to Washington, has been working around the house and at Johnson's boyhood home in nearby Johnson City, her press secretary said Thursday in Stonewall, Tex.

The secretary, Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter, added: "She tries to set aside two weeks each July to attend to the long list of things that come up in every home."

Attacked Negroes in CR March

Bogalusa Gripped by Crisis After White Man Is Shot

BOGALUSA, La. (AP)—A new racial crisis gripped Bogalusa today in the wake of violence in which a white man was shot when he attacked Negroes in a civil rights march.

Thomas D. Burbank, chief of the state police, said 200 troopers had joined the 36-man city police force in a special alert.

The wounded man, Alton D. Crowe Jr., 25, of Pearl River, La., was in "satisfactory" condition at a hospital in New Orleans, some 65 miles to the south.

Two Negroes arrested after the shooting were held in an undisclosed jail for investigation of aggravated battery. They are Henry Austin, 21, and Milton Johnson, 26, both of Bogalusa. The president of the Bogalusa Civic and Voters League, A.Z. Young, told a rally Thursday night that demonstrations "will continue but that the league 'is nonviolent and is going to stay that way.'"

The heavily guarded Negro rally overflowed a small church. Militant segregationists held an opposing rally across town in an open field at the same hour.

A speaker, J.B. Stoner of Atlanta, urged the white rally "to consider all niggers as our enemy until the battle is won." The cheering crowd, which police estimated at 1,200 to 1,500, waved Confederate flags. Rebel vells resounded.

The shooting was the most serious incident in the area since nightriding terrorists shot and killed Washington Parish's first Negro deputy sheriff, Oneal Moore, June 2.

A white man charged with murdering Moore is free on $25,000 bond.

Police Chief Claxton Knight said Austin admitted firing the bullets which killed Crowe. He was hit in the chest, with two other less serious wounds in the neck.

Knight said Crowe was unarmed. FBI agents joined police and state officers in the investigation.

Newsmen who saw the shooting said Crowe rushed in swinging his fists at the Negro men after they stopped their car to take aboard a Negro girl who had been hit by a stone while marching.

After Alaska's earthquakes, Seward's harbor, normally 30 to 120 feet deep, sank to levels ranging from 390 to 450 feet deep. At Valdez, the sea bottom slid out into the channel, deepening the port by as much as 150 feet.
